With Spartan Courage She Rallies From Shocking News Due to a Mix-up in Names and Would Send Her Other Son If He Could Go.

Stunned by the news that her son was in the hospital with an arm crushed that had to be taken off, what would a mother do? On the street she meets a sympathetic and motherly friend who commiserates with her. It's the first she hears about it. Can the feelings of that mother be understood?

Such was the experience of Mrs. Fred Hoetger.

But this mother is of Spartan breed, of German descent but born in this country.

"Some one told they had read in the New York paper that my son was in the Columbia Hospital in New York and had his arm taken off," she said.

"In his letters he had written to us from France he had said nothing about it. I had an errand down town in a drug store and there I had mentioned it, supposing that what my friend had said she knew. If it was in the New York paper it must have been my son. My husband at once went to New York and at the hospital he found a man who had returned from the war and had had to have an arm taken off. He was not our son.

"His name was Walter Hoetger. Spelled just like ours without the 't' for we spell our name Hoetger. But our son was not there. Letters continue to come from Walter and he says, 'Don't worry about me mother, I am alright'."

Mrs. Hoetger brought out a bunch of letters from her son. They were dated May 4, 8 and 19, showing that the young soldier is not forgetting his mother. It is an unusual circumstance a soldier's letters coming as frequently as his.

Just as the reporter was leaving the house the mail carrier drove up and handed Mrs. Hoetger a letter. That also was from Walter. It was dated May 21. Only two days later than the letter Mrs. Hoetger had previously received. The soldier's letters were all four short pages with no special mention of incidents that were thought to bring anything of interest to be published. As the Freeman is doing with soldiers' letters:

"So you can see my son is all right. He says he is and he ought to know." Walter Hoetger, 27 years old next September, enlisted in the regular army in New York about two years ago. He was in Texas for awhile, then a little over a year ago this month he went with the command he belongs to somewhere in France.

He writes home that he is at the front and is not fighting. He is a gunner in Battery A, Fifth Field Artillery, and writing as he does of the hot fighting probably means that he and his pals are camouflaged somewhere, steadily engaged in exchanging "hot compliments" with Fritz.

He was born in Kingston and was a pupil of the Livingston Street Lutheran School and the public school in Ponckhockie. He worked on a boat in Brieham's brickyard at an early age. Leaving Kingston shortly after he engaged in running a motor boat in New York. His father, Fred, now works for Brigham.

It was some time in the later months in 1916 that he wrote home that he was going to enlist in the regular army for he thought the United States would get into war with Germany. He was going to "help lick some of those brutes who shoot and drown women and children."

His brother, Ralph, 15-years-old, a pupil in the Ponckhockie school says he hopes to get into the fight before it's over.

There's a service flag waving over the entrance to that suburban cottage on Third avenue, with one star on it. No objections will be made to putting on another if Paul were to go.

"I am proud that Walter had the courage to go to war for everyone who can fight it seems to me to be needed now, and as quickly as they can be got over. If Walter had been a coward he never would have enlisted. My husband often says he wishes he were younger, so that he could fight with us all of us in this family proud of Walter. I don't worry for I know he is doing his duty. No mother thinks more of her sons than I do. No, no abhors war as I do. If I must make a sacrifice it is such as every American mother should be proud to make. None of us in this house are slackers."

It is a lovely little suburban home with shrubbery, flowers, lawn and garden nestling under the hill. It is clean and orderly and Mrs. Hoetger busy stitching when the reporter called was trim and neat in her dress as one could be.

Coal Car Ran Away.
Tuesday afternoon a coal car broke loose from a U. & D. train and ran away at Grand Hotel. The runaway car jumped the track at Arkville after tearing up a quarter of a mile of track. Fortunately the runaway coal car was given a clear track and no one was injured.

White House Short of Water.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 12.—The water shortage that has been worrying the national capital today caused President Wilson to order the White House fountains shut off.

PRIVATE CHESTER A. GORDON.

Company C, 4th Engineers, now in France. He is a brother of Mrs. Lester Lawrence of Brown Station, who recently received word of his arrival in France. He enlisted at Camp Greene, N. C., October 28, 1917.

Uster County Comfort Kits are supplied to all Uster county soldiers, whether drafted or volunteers, and statement would be needless, as it has been made repeatedly in the past, but for the fact that some vicious persons have been circulating a story that Comfort Kits are for drafted men only. All soldiers and sailors look alike to the Uster County Home Defense Committee and no partiality is being shown, volunteers being supplied with Comfort Kits as soon as their addresses are known. New Volunteers should call at the armory for their Comfort Kits.

Mrs. Martin McHugh of O'Reilly street has received word that her son, Martin J., has been promoted to corporal.

Sergeant Willis Roe, Jr., of Co. L, 110th Inf., has sent word to friends in this city announcing his safe arrival overseas.

Edward B. Robinson of Co. B, 1st Battalion, U. S. Guards, N. A., is spending a short furlough with his family at 123 Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas of Chambers street, have received word of the safe arrival of their son, Frank somewhere in France.

Mrs. Gurnsey Burger of 199 Wall street, has received word that her brother, Private Earl Osterhoudt, 105th U. S. Infantry, Co. I, has arrived safely "over there."

Augustus C. Fredericks, R. R. 4, Kingston, left Kingston Tuesday for Camp Wadsworth, S. C., to fill a vacancy in the last contingent sent from Uster county.

Anton Martin Rodbey, of Esopus, whose order number is 1480, serial number 81, left today for Camp Joseph E. Johnson, Jacksonville, Fla. He entered the service under a special induction call.

Mrs. Jesse Shurtler of Sumsonville has received a letter from her husband, who is somewhere in France, stating that he had been operated on for appendicitis but was getting along nicely and expected soon to be back on duty.

Among the colored members of the new National Army from Kingston, who spent a brief furlough in Kingston from their training camps the first of the week were William Jackson, Earl Harvey, Carl Snyder, John Bassett and John DuBois.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Crane have received word of the safe arrival overseas of their son, Private William Burton of Co. E, 105th M. G. Bn. Private Burton was formerly with them when they went south. His parents reside at 55 Hasbrouck avenue, this city.

Elmer Hoetger of Camp Wadsworth is enjoying a furlough at his home on Fourth avenue. He left the city with Company M. He has a broken shoulder and arm sustained in an accident at camp when the car he was driving went over an embankment.

(Elmer Hoetger is a cousin of Walter Hoetger, who was reported to have lost an arm in the service. The report was later proven untrue, as told in another column.)

Four Kingston men will leave Saturday to take a course in mechanical training to fit them for special work in Uncle Sam's service during the war. These men have entered the service under special calls. The following will go as automobile mechanics: Walter Edgar Snyder of 100 O'Neil street, George Dittmar, 567 Broadway, Ernest Arolan, 9 Wood street. These men will go to Cornell College at Ithaca, N. Y., under Call No. 635. Leo Fennelly of Crown street, will go to Syracuse University to take a course in telegraphy.

Miniature Cloudburst Broke.
About one o'clock this afternoon a miniature cloudburst broke over Kingston, flooding the streets, but as far as known no serious damage followed the path of the storm. On the Rondout creek the wind blew a gale and the staunch little yacht Shultz on its trip down the creek was unable to make the Wilbur Landing. The rain fall was accompanied by a severe electrical storm.

Quite the Proper Thing to Have an Attack—Some Sound Philosophy—Mystery of Location to Be Disclosed—Linguistic Acrobatics and Mixed Genealogy.

American Expeditionary Force, May 20.—I was lucky last winter. About 60% of the boys in our barracks had the mumps and I missed them. For about a week we had mump inspection before we were allowed to go to work and all suspects were sent to the sick bay. It was quite a job for a time. One fellow who had a slight suspicion would rush up to the cook take a spoonful of vinegar and then go dancing away saying, "I have got them." That would be the last of him for a few days and then he would show up looking pretty shaky. It was quite the smart thing to get the mumps. Seems to me you are a bit behind with spring flowers just coming out on April 28. Over here we are getting vegetables out of the garden. Well this has been a pretty hot country for the past 3 or 4 years, though. I received Connelly's letter telling me no lay-off for the industries you know. Some people stand around shouting loud times while right around the corner are all sorts of good things. It is same way in the life. I have decided that the army life is just the best thing in the world and am trying to live up to that idea and enjoy myself instead of spending my time looking for things to growl about. If I have a good time, "tres bien," if not I just imagine I am having one and "Keep on Smiling." When we got orders to get up an hour earlier and be at work at 7 o'clock I just said, "I like to get up in the morning, though it's nicer to be in bed."

I understand from an article in the "Stars and Stripes" that we can tell where we are but I am not going to until I am sure. As yet I have seen no order although in town at Base Headquarters they have been told "Yes" by some officers and "No" by others. Anyway guess you know where I am, that is within 20 kilometers and we will overlook those 20 kilometers down here for it is only a pleasant trip via auto. Ought to have seen us make that the other day in our little "Hunka Tin." First time I had been told to say "Hunka tin" in a long time.

Yes I hope on the march to Berlin to be able to visit both—and look up the spot where our Huguenot ancestors once lived. I hope I may yet get chance to visit the cities in northern France where the family once lived. That is what is left of the towns. So far I have passed through one town where they once were but only stopped to get coffee. The boys don't know France, they are one of the old stamping grounds of our ancestors. Jake and I are known among the boys as "the two Swedes." I find Jake knows a lot of "Jag har rasande skojigt" and he nearly doted laughing. Since then we had we know quite a number of expressions used by "square-heads" and we amused ourselves by studying them to tell me I am Swiss. One said, "Your name, Hoffman, why you are some prominent minister or official in France by that name. That is a new one on me. Wish I had the 'family tree' over here now so I could get a bit more familiar with the wanderings from the time of the France until the voyage to America. Never had an idea I would be over here so never read that part very carefully. Gave me a short sketch of places so I may, if I get chance ever look about for remains.

I suppose the annual spring vacation is now on after house cleaning. House cleaning is simple over here. Plenty of sulphur burned, lots of kerosene, crude oil, carbolic, etc., and the job is completed until a new crop arrives. Then the same.

The wandering spirit has again hit me and I don't know what it may lead to. I should like to move to some other place where there is more doing and a bit of real excitement, but it looks like I am anchored here for the war. Well, it has its advantage too I suppose.

FRED.

BOICE DANCERS NEXT FRIDAY
Afternoon and Evening at Opera House For Red Cross.

Owing to a typographical error it was stated in last evening's Freeman that the benefit exhibition of dancing for the Red Cross, to be given by Miss Boice and pupils at the opera house would take place "next week." It will take place on Friday afternoon and evening of this week, June 14. The tickets which are twenty-five cents for the matinee, fifty cents for the evening, with a few at seventy-five and one dollar, are selling splendidly but still there is room, and tickets may be procured at the opera house at the time of the performance. The entire proceeds from this charming exhibition of aesthetic dancing will go to the Uster County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Uster County's Quota Filled.
Mrs. Mary Schoonmaker Rodie, Miss Mary E. Ryan and Miss Lottie Kelder, all of this city, have enrolled in the Red Cross nursing service. This completes Uster county's quota of 15 nurses.

Central Hudson Line, Unable to Get Enough Men, Applied to Shipping Board for Help—They Did Not Expect Job Assigned.

The Central Hudson Line, finding that it was impossible to get enough men to handle the freight carried on its boats, applied to the United States Shipping Board for help, and on Monday a crew of about seventy-five men, who had enlisted with the shipping board at Boston were sent to New York city and placed at work trucking freight on three of the company's steamers.

The Odell with a crew of twenty-five of the enlisted men of the shipping board berthed in the Rondout creek on Tuesday. Today the Poughkeepsie came into the creek with twenty-three of the seamen of the freight about twenty-five of the men are also assigned to the Home Ramsdell.

These shipping board men are equipped with a regular seaman's uniform and also a working suit consisting of overalls and jumps. They are young chaps or draft age, and enlisted to do whatever work was assigned them by the shipping board and are sent where needed.

One of the men aboard the Poughkeepsie, this morning informed a Freeman reporter when questioned that he had not expected to be assigned a job as stevedore, but had expected to be assigned to duty on a transport carrying troops across the big pond. He said that if they were not satisfied with their assignments, they could take the matter up with the shipping board and be assigned to another job or else be placed back in the draft.

The Central Hudson Line boats are the first coming into Rondout creek with a crew partly made up of men from the shipping board. The men working aboard the company's boats are listed as ordinary seamen. The important berths aboard the boats are still held and will be held by the company's trained men.

FRENCH CAPTURE
1,000 PRISONERS
1,000 PRISONERS

Foch's Men Advance on Front of Eight Miles While Germans Trade Life for Ground in Thrust at Compeigne.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, June 12.—Counter blows by the French on the 21 mile battle front south of Noyon and Montdidier, where the Germans began their latest offensive, are gaining in strength. Violent fighting has continued all along the line with the French making important gains on the center and on the left wing. On the right wing the Germans, at frightful cost of life were able to press southward through the Oise valley, past Ribecourt and as a result the French voluntarily evacuated the Drelincourt-Ribecourt angle in order to avoid needless losses.

General Foch struck twice with sledge hammer blows against the Germans on a front of nearly eight miles between Ribecourt and St. Maure, driving the Germans back about two miles.

Desperate resistance was put up by the Germans, but the French supported by tanks, lunged forward in irresistible force, sweeping all before them. More than 1,000 prisoners have been captured by the French in their counter attacks.

The French advanced to the south approaches of Le Pretoy, captured the heights between Courcelles and Mortemer and carried the Allies' lines to a point about a mile and a quarter to the east of Mery.

(The capture of Mery was announced by the French war office on Tuesday.)

The Germans were driven from Bellay, after bloody fighting amidst the ruins of the village. Comblis Wood is now in French hands, also.

South of St. Maure, there was sanguinary struggling, but the Germans were unable to withstand the French onslaught. The French penetrated the southern suburbs of St. Maure.

The struggle along the center of the line has continued with unabated fury. There too, the French were successful. The Germans were driven back beyond Anthouil and Logefarm, losing ground they had previously won at the cost of heavy sacrifices.

Striking southward from Ribecourt, the Germans attempted to dominate the Metz valley. They succeeded in gaining a precarious foothold in Machemont and Berhaucourt, but elsewhere their assaults broke down and they were held in their positions.

The Metz valley lies five miles northeast of Compeigne, the railway and highway city towards which the Germans are attempting to advance down the Compeigne-Paris railway.

The Germans are pouring reserves into the fighting in an unending stream, utterly regardless of the losses. The Germans are said to be replacing their shattered divisions at the rate of five and six a day on this comparatively narrow front.

Not only has the German advance been definitely halted at the river, but the Germans are losing ground which gives the French valuable strategic points for a continuation of their growing counter assaults.

Simultaneous with the stopping of the German drive on the French front between Montdidier and the Oise river (where the latest German offensive was opened on Sunday), a tremendous new battle blazed up today on the northern end of the Aisne-Marne line.

The Germans began attacking over the fourteen mile front from Soissons to Villers-Cotterets and violent fighting is raging around Dommers, Cury and Amblieny.

In the meantime the German Crown Prince has not relaxed his pressure on the Montdidier-Oise field, but has kept up an uninterrupted series of assaults along both flanks of the line and on the center.

The situation in this zone of combat may be summarized as follows:
Left Flank—The French have made further gains east of Mery and in the sector of the Genlis Wood. Terrific efforts by the Germans to recapture ground the French took from them yesterday were all repulsed with heavy losses.

On the Center—The Germans employed powerful forces in an endeavor to throw the French back upon the Aisne river, but all of the thrusts broke down under the French fire and the stout hearted resistance of General Foch's veterans.

Right Wing—German forces that had crossed to the southern bank of the Metz river, five miles north of Compeigne, tried vainly to advance from the southern bank, but were thrown back repeatedly to their old positions.

All indications today were that the Germans have been definitely stopped by armies defending Paris, although they may be able to achieve further local gains.

The French have continued to concentrate their heaviest pressure against the western side of the German salient, making vainly their attacks over a seven mile front, lying south-east from Ribecourt.

(Ribecourt is two and one-half miles south of Montdidier.)

Americans have played an important part in the recent fighting. On the southern end of Picardy from American artillery aided the French in repulsing a counter attack against the Germans southwest of Montdidier.

On the Marne front American Marines have again distinguished themselves by storming Belleau Wood, northwest of Chateau Thierry, capturing 300 prisoners, some cannon and machine guns.

There have been minor operations upon the Flanders front.

This was the eighty-fourth day of the German grand offensive and the fourth day of the new drive south of Noyon and Montdidier.

NO ADDITIONAL
U-BOAT VICTIMS

Believed Some Subs Gone to Home Base—Navy Adopts Allied Methods—On Americans on Anomina.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 12.—Practical methods which drove the German submarines far out to sea from the coasts of Great Britain and France, are being put into effect by the department on this side of the Atlantic to protect the many harbors from the submarines still operating off the coast. While there was a growing belief that some at least of the submarines which have been destroying coastwise shipping have left for their home bases officials generally were convinced today that the general submarine menace will be with us until after the war.

Steps already taken to protect the coast, and the precautions now being put into effect are extended to reduce losses to the minimum. There was no additional word of further victims of the submarines today.

Although there was no complete confirmation of the report that one of the submarines had been rammed and sunk off the Virginia coast, officials said that there was a possibility that the report was true. That one was seen in the vicinity is now known to be a fact.

All coastwise shipping now is being directed by the navy and this fact alone, officials said today, is certain to materially reduce losses from submarine sources.

War department officials said today that so far as is known no American soldiers were aboard the British transport Ansonia, torpedoed in European waters with a probable loss of forty lives.

To Teach Soldiers' Daughters.
To make provision for the daughters of army and navy men who lose their lives in the war, St. Agnes School, Albany, N. Y., has formed a War Service Campaign Committee, to raise a special endowment fund of $200,000, which will assist in providing tuition, board, and care for at least 25 girls. Of this fund $100,000 is already in hand.

St. Agnes School, which was founded by the late Bishop William Crosswell Doane, was the pioneer school to give its pupils training in mothercraft.

MARINES "CARRY ON" BRILLIANTLY

Battalion Takes Strategic Wood Defended By Kaiser's Best, Together With 300 Prisoners, Cannon and Machine Guns.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
With the American Army at the front, June 11 (7 p. m.)—Belleau Wood, a small strategic forest north-west of Chateau Thierry, on the Marne front is tonight in the hands of American Marines.

It was defended by crack Prussian and Saxon troops, the flower of the Kaiser's army, but they were no match for the dauntless United States Marines, who swept through the forest, capturing 300 prisoners, including 10 officers, two Krupp field pieces of three-inch calibre, several great minenwerfers, and many machine guns.

The attack was delivered by a battalion of Marines.

Two hours of preliminary cannonading preceded the onrush. The American casualties were light as the Germans were found to be stunned by the violent shelling and quite ready to give themselves up.

On Monday night the Americans reduced a group of machine gunners who had previously been surrounded in the wood. The gun crews surrendered without a struggle and the Americans captured all the guns.

Continuous shelling prevented the Germans from putting any resistance to two 77-millimeter field guns were captured, these being the first (cannon to fall into the hands of the Americans.

American storming units worked their way through the wood and advanced upon the German defensive positions charging the gunners with the bayonet and shattering all resistance. So quickly were the Germans overcome, that they did not have time to put their guns out of commission.

Immediately after their capture, Marines attached ropes to the pieces and hauled them back through the wood to the rear of the American line, the scores of the men tugging and hauling at the lines.

The general commanding will send the field guns to Washington and Annapolis instead of the trench mortars previously captured.

It was believed these were the guns that were harassing the American lines so much lately.

The shelling was especially uncomfortable for the Americans because they were not entrenched. They were sheltered merely in hastily dug earthenworks.

The big bag of German prisoners was due to the fact that the concentrated artillery fire prevented the enemy from carrying out any movements.

Captives said that the shelling prevented rations from being brought up to them and that it had been six hours since they had received any fresh food.

German officers refused to surrender to American privates, insisting that they give themselves up only to Marine officers. Nearly all of the leaders of German officers spoke the German language. The German privates and the Americans exchanged cigarettes, cigars and "concessions" amicably before the captives were taken to the rear.

The Germans made an attack at Belleau Wood but it was broken up by the coolness of the American machine gunners and the accuracy of the American artillery.

Belleau Wood lies just west of Chateau Thierry.

At Kingston City Hospital.
Mrs. Alfred Davis was removed from 157 Tremper avenue to the Kingston City Hospital Tuesday evening.

PORT EWEN MAN'S LIFE IN FRANCE

Private Harry E. Schryver, 14th Railway Engineers, One of First Ulster County Men in France, Relates Some of His Experiences.

Private Harry E. Schryver, Company E, 14th Engineers (Railway), a native of Port Ewen and in his early youth an employee of The Freeman, was one of the first Ulster county men in France, having sailed with his regiment for England shortly after the United States entered the war. Several letters have been printed in The Freeman and the following account of his experiences—half letter, half diary—evidently written in odd hours as a pastime, came to the managing editor of The Freeman, with whom Private Schryver was associated more than 20 years ago, in several installments.

(Second Installment.)

In half an hour the train backed out from the station on to a long spur about 4 miles away. We disembarked and hiked ½ mile to our camp at 7 p. m. Our cot had arrived ahead and were piled in one pile, as detailed as a guard until 9:30 p. m., when every man was allowed to take a cot for the night. The next morning we began to change the cots in order to get the ones originally issued to us. We had some work ahead of us. Every cot had to be looked over for names or marks. We finally brought matters to a point where the majority were satisfied. (But we were very tired as we awoke at 3 a. m. that morning and hustled outside to see an aerial battle nearly over our heads. We also spent an hour watching the bright star-lights and shrapnel burst over the trenches—miles away. We were chilled through when we turned in again.) The next five days we were at the camp, during which time we were reviewed by the Ex-Ambassador to Turkey, Henry Morgenthau of New York, and had drills, medical and personal inspection.

At Work at Last.

We left there Sunday, Aug. 26, and marched in a heavy rain to another camp—½ mile away, which is at present our regimental headquarters. The following day we were assigned to our present location at a control station along the narrow-gauge lines, commonly called the "Suicide Lines." Three days later our English cousins there relinquished control to our regiment and joined their units. We have been stationed here since Aug. 27. For a few days we were pretty busy, but soon became proficient and now we really enjoy the work. We have long hours but have nearly every comfort to be had over here. We have worked hard to bring matters to that point where we can now enjoy our spare time. The men here (12) are all well and feel fine. Never enjoyed better health. We seldom feel blue now.

Railroading at the Front.

The light railway system we operate is similar to those in use in lime-kilns, stone quarries, sand-pits and brickyards in America; with the exception that the rails are longer, wider and heavier. The rails are 22 inches apart. These sections are furnished in a condition that enables them to be laid quickly. Much of the soil here is of white chalk; which, until a short time ago, was used as ballast; but as it was very wet and "sloppy" after a rain, and easily seen at night, sand and slate are now used. The condition of the road was very bad when we assumed control August 30th. (We were the first engineers to begin work.) This has been eliminated to a fraction, except when it rains behind the British lines, then the repair gang works. These lines are operated directly to the batteries and trenches, and carry heavy loaded cars on each trip through the rolling country. Careful watch has to be kept on the entire system, especially after rainy weather. The rails in many places vary in height to such an extent that the entire train rocks like a cradle when the train is in motion. We often watch trains as they roll along under a speed of 20 to 30 miles an hour, and wonder how they manage to keep on the iron and not topple over in the drain beside the railroad. In certain parts of the system lights can be used (only recently)—on other parts of the system no lights are ever used under sentence of court martial. You can understand why care and caution must be exercised then—or when a derailment occurs?

Building a Happy Home.

A heavy rain was falling the first day we arrived here—without a tent. Another man and I walked two miles "down" to headquarters for the tent. We passed a train coming "up." When we arrived at headquarters we learned our tent had been sent "up" to us on that train. And when we arrived back here we were drenched to the skin. The tent was a small, conical one, just large enough to hold the six cots of the men of the company I am in. The wind and rain was so strong that the tent fell twice after we had it placed. For about three hours it was "duck in and duck out" for us. The last time we drove 18 inch posts for the guys, and had no more trouble during the five days' rain. Other men were sent at different periods until there was eight here. A large square tent was issued and used for more than a month. The weather became colder. Another man was sent "up" here. We made a quick decision to build the hut and dug out as soon as possible and not wait any longer for the long-promised material and men to build it. So we organized forage parties as we had nothing with which to begin our hut. We were lucky? We obtained 3 hammers, 2 saws, nails, old boards, posts, corrugated iron for sides and roof, old stove-pipe and material for lining the hut. After our hut was erected, we finally located a stove—and "foraged" it one evening. It was very small. On our way "up" again we located and "foraged" a larger one and left the small one in its place. We have it now in operation every day and are well repaid for the time spent to "forage." During several heavy rains I awoke to find a pool in my poncho—which is always placed over us at night. Finally, it became so bad that I "foraged" and secured some good iron and made a second roof which could protect us from rain, shrapnel or machine-gun fire. We did all our "foraging" at night. ("Up" means going back behind the lines.) We built it 15x10x4 feet. When three more men were sent here we found we had just room enough for the cots. (12 cots leave very little room, but it is our home while here. Very few have a hut that can compare with it.) When we were assigned here, we had a pretty hard time. I cannot mention more. And were it not for the assistance of our English cousins we would have fared worse. Every lad here now has a pretty deep, warm feeling toward them. We cannot forget their assistance.

Game Plentiful but Wary.

Quail, rabbits and Belgian hares are numerous here. We often see them in the fields, and after a light snow we would go through the fields and old trenches to look at their tracks. The resting-places and tracks were very plain and numerous. And we decided to try to trap some. We have with us here, Private William J. Sweeney of the West Springfield Railroad, Y. M. C. A., who is known as "the Border Boy," from his experience while on the Mexican border. We accorded him the honor of catching them in any way he could devise. Our votes declared him as elected for the office of "Hunter and Trapper." But there would be no decorations for excellent work. An old cartridge box was built as a rabbit trap, similar to a box trap. It has been set a number of times but no rabbits have been caught. "Border Boy" is too foxy and knows more than we gave him credit for. We watched one circle the traps three times one moonlight night, and then set upon its haunches and study the contrivance and its 150 feet away. It appeared as though the rabbit scratched his head with one foot before he finally went away. That was enough for us. "The Border Boy" heard from us that night? We lost our box-trap. The "Jocks" (Scots) appropriated it for fire wood.

With the quail our experience was the same. The trap was of wire, placed near a good spot and wired to iron pegs in the ground, with a hole near one end for the quail to follow a string of oats on the snow leading into the trap. They never followed. They were educated quail. The oats were gone from around the trap, but inside the trap were the same oats. One morning a dead quail was found near the trap. That settled it. We knew we need not worry that as soon as the quail saw the trap they would drop dead from laughter at the peculiar appearance of it. We will now elect someone who can get them. Quail and rabbit are good eating. "The Border Boy" and "Indian" Davis of Middletown, N. Y., joined hands but failed to get any. Joining, as the concessions from the heavy guns caused the traps to fall a few minutes after they were set. As soon as we learned the army regulations in force here specified that game was not to be taken in any manner, we pulled out our "game" tooth and burned the traps.

We may some day move behind our own troops and leave behind us the hut for others who may enjoy it as much as we have. So you can see our work has not been done for our pleasure. We believe in the 11th commandment, "Child! Look out for yourself."

Our corrugated iron control station, with all equipment, was moved some time ago to get a better view of the line. It was very cold even with two gloves—one a German stove. The other made of two petrol cans joined together. We are now boarding it with cartridge boxes for winter, and banking dirt around sides as a protection from the new bombs that burst and act on the same principle as an inverted umbrella—"up and out."

The manhood of France has been sacrificed. Behind the lines you see only women, old men, and very young boys do the hard labor as good as the men did—and never complain about their heavy burden. We cannot describe the friendliness shown toward our boys here. Although very few of us understand their language, we have very little trouble in "getting by." They understand very quickly.

The British Y. M. C. A.

We often go to the British Expeditionary Force from many regiments there, buy our paper, write, and breathe the atmosphere that has made this branch such a success. But we often think of, and wish for, one like the American Y. M. C. A. We had at our camp in America. There are many "somewhere in France," but none out in the desolate section of France. And every man here does long for one. People at home cannot understand conditions here from reports in newspapers. We are not allowed to give any idea of them. But one should first see them, as we have, to understand.

The majority of the men have had their overcoats shortened by the tailors in the English regiments. We hated to do so, but they were so long we were unable to move very quickly. The shortened overcoats enable us to move more free and easy. Many sweaters and head pieces have been issued. I may get mine soon as the weather is very cold now.

Battles in the Air.

During our time here we have witnessed two aerial battles. Two balloons and one airplane have been destroyed by fire, while the men escaped, by use of their parachutes, after a close shave. We have seen German planes over our heads, heavily shelled by the anti-aircraft guns and driven out of range. We have watched evolutions in aviation that could not be duplicated at any aviation meet in America. Many of the men can tell the different planes from the sounds of motors.

The transportation of mail from home to France requires three weeks or more. The packages require more time. Much mail arrives in a terrible condition. I have 15 packages coming—none have arrived yet, but packages require from one to three months. Letters, packages, or mail of any description look big to the boys here. Reading matter, books, novels, paper, or anything that can help to break the monotony is always appreciated, no matter how old they are. We are some book-worms when we get them.

Engineers Not Tin Soldiers.

From the tone of several letters received lately, it appears that many people think the Engineer Railway Regiments are "Safety First Regiments." Allow me to state that whoever thinks that is true, has a few more guesses coming. Every man here joined willingly to try to do his "bit" wherever needed. There may have been times when dissatisfaction could have been apparent, but matters have been smoothed over to such an extent that everyone feels quite satisfied. Where the men formerly worked from 12 to 20 hours each day, matters have been adjusted, so that there is very little friction and better hours. Every man feels fine. The health and morale of the regiment is almost perfect. I understand 1,557 applications were considered and examined before the company I am in was recruited to its full strength of 130 men. That fact alone proves the standard of the men in the companies. It was the same with all other regiments in railway service here in France. The men had to be almost perfect, physically and mentally, for the responsibility connected with their future work in France.

Red Cross Nurses.

We often see the nurses from the Casualty Clearing Station (Red Cross Hospital) near where our comrades now sleep for a morning ("somewhere in France") (walk) along the main road here. As were formerly did not see women for a long period, we have recovered from the sudden shock we experienced when we saw them for the first time. They have great courage and determination when they sacrifice the comforts of home and hospitals to volunteer devotion to attend to those who may need attention. What sacrifices they make when they come out here or over the ocean to "somewhere in France?" And knowing the conditions and environment over here; do you wonder that we would take our hats off to them no matter who they may be or their situation in life wherever they lived?

Those Mounds in the Fields.

As one journeys through the fields looking at objects of interest in and around the old trenches, some round mounds can be seen. These are grass very high on each and poppies growing profusely in among the grass. We often speak of them on our travels. Sometime ago the men stationed at a control station three miles down from us decided to build a hut for the winter. They measured a space and began to dig the hole for the corner-post. The ground suddenly lowered about a foot. When they were able to get the spade loosened, and saw what was there, all work ceased for that spot. The last seen of the sergeant was while he was making a bee-line for the wet caten over the top of the hill. The hut has since been built—but at another place. Whenever we see the round mounds in the fields near here, we always think of the above incident.

German Hot Air.

A week ago we were watching a number of airplanes give an excellent demonstration of dare-devil flying and diving, when I saw a large red paper balloon coming from the direction of the German lines. We watched it slowly drop until it finally settled in the mass of barbed wire; but was released and bumped along like a rubber ball until it settled in the mass of barbed wire. Several of the men ran over to the hill; but before they could get there men appeared from every direction on the same errand. One of the English lads finally captured it and all the German propaganda papers except three. And I managed to see that. It was interesting. But the news was old stuff to us. Later another came over and I sprinted about one-half a mile for that one. The barbed wire that the balloon was on got intact and was captured by one of our lads in another company. These papers were printed in French. (Enough said for me.) The third balloon was seen slowly passing here at a good height, and no doubt found a resting place farther down the valley. Although we watched for more none appeared in our section. I had hoped to get a paper as a souvenir. At the end of the day all I had to show for my run was "hopes."

Railroading in the Fog.

One Saturday afternoon about two months ago a heavy fog settled down in the valley at 3 o'clock. Later we received an order to check up all empty cars and report at once. After our report was in we were notified to have a large number of empty cars at a certain place Sunday morning at a certain hour. At that hour the fog was still with us—as dense as ever. The trains of empty cars proceeded under a caution to this place and remained there some time, owing to a delay in the movement. While awaiting orders, the steam valves blew off and the whistles played "suckholes" (short roots) in the air. About 10 a. m. the droning sound of motors could be heard above us as the fog slowly lifted. Then the anti-aircraft guns began shelling the planes. In about 10 minutes the sound of the motors became very faint and finally ceased. At 11:45 the first train received orders and pulled out, closely followed by the others. Nine trains of heavily loaded cars passed our control station in one hour and five minutes. Twice during the movement the anti-aircraft guns were working at a great rate at an airplane which followed the second train, but the airplane was moving so fast and climbing so high that it escaped before the pursuing machine could get close enough to give battle. (The German plane had too much of a start and got away from the planes we had seen in chase.) While the trains were in motion we had an excellent view as they passed, rocking like a cradle until they reached the curve and then on to the main line with the wheels clear on one side. We have one spot here in the valley where the "scenic railway" is worse than Jackman's Thriller at Coney Island, or the large one at Palisade Park in New Jersey, for dips and turns and rocking motions.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The whole great problem of winning the war rests primarily on one thing, the loyalty and sacrifice of the American people in the matter of food. If we are selfish or even careless, we are disloyal; we are the enemy at home. Now is the hour of our testing.

NUTS A GOOD MEAT SUBSTITUTE.

Nuts are a valuable food and with the different kinds one need not fear using them too often. Nuts like legumes are rich in protein and fat. Peanut Loaf.—Take a cupful of soft bread crumbs, three-fourths of a cupful of peanut butter, half a cupful of cooked rice, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, a teaspoonful of poultry dressing and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Combine the ingredients, mold into a loaf and bake thirty minutes. Unmold, and serve with tomato sauce or catsup.

Nut and Cheese Loaf.—Take a cupful of rich grated cheese, one cupful of English walnut or hickory nut meats, a cupful of dry bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of water, a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of pepper, two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion and a tablespoonful of oil. Cook the onion in the oil and water until tender. Add crumbs, nuts and cheese with seasonings. Bake in a loaf till brown. Garnish with lemon points.

Nut Croquettes.—Take one cupful of any kind of nut meats at hand, add a half cupful each of bread crumbs and cooked rice, soak the crumbs in half a cupful of milk, add an egg slightly beaten, a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper. Mold in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat, using corn or other vegetable oil.

Nut, Cheese Date Salad.—Stuff dates with cream cheese after removing the pits from the dates. Roll in ground nuts and pile on a salad plate with a mound of mayonnaise in the center.

Nut Muffins.—Take one and a half cupfuls of barley flour, add a half teaspoonful of soda to a half cupful of sour milk, a half teaspoonful of salt. Mix with a half cupful of molasses, one egg and a half cupful of hickory nuts. Add a teaspoonful of baking powder to the barley flour. Mix as usual, giving the batter a good beating, pour into greased muffin pans and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, June 12.—The Cottekill Reformed Church will hold a big celebration on the grounds of the above church on the afternoon and evening of July 4th. A full line of refreshments will be for sale both afternoon and evening, and commencing at 6 p. m. and until all are served, a supper, such as this church is noted for, will be served. The committees in charge are planning for numerous attractions, both afternoon and evening, which will be announced in these columns at a later date and also by posters. All are cordially invited. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. If stormy, the next fair afternoon and evening.

The Methodist Sunday school are rehearsing for their Children's Day exercises. Several members of the Reformed Sunday school are kindly assisting with the program. School closes June 20th for the summer.

The passenger fare to Kingston has been advanced one cent and is now 24 cents, the half fare remaining the same. A rate of three cents per mile is now charged, plus the war tax on amounts of 35 cents and over.

Children's Day exercises were observed in the Reformed Sunday school on Sunday evening last. Several out of town people motored in to enjoy the exercises. Much credit is due Superintendent Walker and his assistants, as well as those who so kindly took part.

The ice cream social held in the Methodist Church on Thursday evening proved very successful. The sum of $17 was realized for the church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stoll are rejoicing over the arrival of a 14 pound baby boy, which was born Sunday, May 26.

At the annual school meeting held in the school house one evening the past week the following were elected for the ensuing year: Jesse Davis, trustee for three years; A. J. Snider, trustee for two years; W. H. Rhinehart, trustee for one year; G. W. Bock, clerk; Harry Snyder, treasurer, and J. A. Keator, collector. According to the law of this year, both the treasurer and collector will be required to furnish either a personal or security bond for the amounts involved.

A number in this village had an opportunity of witnessing the eclipse of the sun on Saturday evening last. It being a clear night it was visible very plainly. This is the first visible eclipse here since May, 1900.

A few summer boarders have arrived.

City Marshal Rice escorted Teddy to police headquarters and then as the city has no pound master, since the Hon. George K. Horton removed south, it was decided to escort Teddy to the veterinary stables of Dr. J. A.
Huhne on West Union street, where Teddy was turned over to the care of Charlie Belton. The trip to see Charley was made in the police car with Officer Gus Kuehn at the wheel.
Officer Gus is also a lover of fine dogs.

It might be well to make a separate paragraph that City Marshal Rice is mighty thankful that Teddy is of a gentle disposition and made no trouble at all when seized.

Mrs. Wentworth, who has a residence in Paris, France, and also at Peekamoose, is said to be a noted artist. She claimed she boarded Teddy with Mrs. Mason and when the latter refused to give up Teddy she took legal steps. On the other hand Mrs. Mason claims that Mrs.
Wentworth presented Teddy to her and it is understood she has retained
V. B. Van Wagoner to bring the necessary action in city court to get back the dog. W. D. Brinnier, Jr. is looking out for the interests of Mrs.
Wentworth.

In the meantime City Marshal Rice is hoping no one will bring replevin proceedings to have him seize an elephant or some other such animal.

FRIDAY'S MUSICAL FESTIVAL.
Details of Classy Entertainment At High School.

Arrangements have been completed for the presentation of the big Patriotic Song and Musical Festival, at the high school auditorium in the afternoon, at 3:45 o'clock, on Friday, to the end that all the children of the public and parochial schools of the city may enjoy the singing, the music and the talk by Pilot
Eaton.

Howard M. Robey, representing the director of the tour has been in touch with the school authorities, has explained the purpose of the tour and has arranged that the afternoon performance be commenced at 3:45 o'clock, so that all children may have time to get to the high school after the dismissal of the classes at 3:30 o'clock. A nominal admission fee of ten cents will be charged in the afternoon.

The matinee performance will be complete, save that there will be no speeches other than the talk by Pilot Eaton, the Harvard boy, who, though an American, entered the aviation corps of France long before our own country entered the war and who was shot down from the air three times by enemy planes. He is now in this country, invalided, and has been engaged in making inspections of the product of our aeroplane for the United States government.
He has been assigned to this tour, at the request of State Chairman James C. Auchincloss of the Four Minute Men, to make patriotic talks in all places where the festival is presented. And his talks are discussed, always, for days after he has left a given city, so impressive is he in his recital of conditions and of facts. Yet he talks in the most impersonal manner.

The teachers of both public and parochial schools will be asked to attend the afternoon performance as the guests of Mr. Tobias.

The Evening Performance.
The tickets for the big festival to be presented in the evening, now on sale at the Connelly drug store, downtown, at Maben & Walker's drug store on Broadway, and at the E.
Winter's Sons' store on John street, are expected to be taken up quickly.
Pilot Eaton will have a thrilling story to tell, the splendid orator who represents the Kingston Lodge of Elks, Hon. Joseph Daughton, will deliver an impressive and appropriate address on the Stars and Stripes, the enlisted Naval Band will be heard, Miss June Day, mezzo-soprano, with a nation-wide reputation as an operatic star, will sing two groups of songs; other soloists of note will appear on the program and the famous Four Minute Quartet will be in evidence several times during the evening.

Miss Frances Stevens, famous as a writer and speaker, and intensely interested at this time in the work of the Women's Land Army of America, will deliver a short address. Miss Stevens coming here direct from New York city for this purpose. While here Miss Stevens will be entertained by Mrs. Francis H. Leggett of Stone Ridge.

Judge A. T. Clearwater, one of the prominent and active members of the Kingston Division of Four Minute Men will preside at the meeting and will introduce the speakers.
A solid block of more than 200 seats has already been taken by C.
V. A. Decker, representing the Flag Day Committee of Kingston Lodge of Elks.

It is suggested that tickets be secured without loss of time, as all seats are numbered and no more tickets will be sold than there are seats in the auditorium.

Slight Fire Tuesday.
A fire Tuesday afternoon in an outhouse in the rear of 579 Broadway was extinguished quickly by the firemen. The damage was slight.
The burning building was close to Teller and Tappen's lumber yard.

PORT EWEN MAN'S LIFE IN FRANCE

Private Harry E. Schryver, 14th Railway Engineers, One of First Ulster County Men in France, Relates Some of His Experiences.

Private Harry E. Schryver, Company E, 14th Engineers (Railway), a native of Port Ewen and in his early youth an employee of The Freeman, was one of the first Ulster county men in France, having sailed with his regiment for England shortly after the United States entered the war. Several letters have been printed in The Freeman and the following account of his experiences—half letter, half diary—evidently written in odd hours as a pastime, came to the managing editor of The Freeman, with whom Private Schryver was associated more than 20 years ago, in several installments.

(Second Installment.)

In half an hour the train backed out from the station on to a long spur about 4 miles away. We disembarked and hiked ½ mile to our camp at 7 p. m. Our cots had arrived ahead and were piled in one pile. I was detailed as a guard until 9:30 p. m., when every man was allowed to take a cot for the night. The next morning we began to change the cots in order to get the ones originally issued to us. We had some work ahead of us. Every cot had to be looked over for names or marks. We finally brought matters to a point where the majority were satisfied. (But we were very tired as we awoke at 3 a. m. that morning and hustled outside to see an aerial battle nestled over our heads. We also spent an hour watching the bright star-lights and shrapnel burst over the trenches—miles away. We were chilled through when we turned in again.) The next five days we were at the camp, during which time we were reviewed by the Ex-Ambassador to Turkey, Henry Morgenthau of New York, and had drills, medical and personal inspection.

At Work at Last.

We left there Sunday, Aug. 26, and marched in a heavy rain to another camp—½ mile away, which is at present our regimental headquarters. The following day we were assigned to our present location at a control station along the narrow-gauge lines, commonly called the "Suicide Lines." Three days later our English cousins there relinquished control to our regiment and joined their units. We have been stationed here since Aug. 27. For a few days we were pretty busy, but soon became proficient and now we really enjoy the work. We have long hours, but have nearly every comfort to be had over here. We have worked hard to bring matters to that point where we can now enjoy our spare time. The men here (12) are all well and feel fine. Never enjoyed better health. We seldom feel blue now.

Railroading at the Front.

The light railway system we operate is similar to those in use in lime-kilns, stone quarries, sand-pits and brickyards in America; with the exception that the rails are longer, wider and heavier. The rails are 22 inches apart. These sections are furnished in a condition that enables them to be laid quickly. Much of the soil here is of white chalk; which, until a short time ago, was used as ballast; but as it was very wet and "goosey" after a rain, and easily seen at night, sand and slate are now used. The condition of the road was very bad when we assumed control August 30th. (We were the first engineers to begin work.) This has been eliminated to a fraction, except when it rains behind the British lines, then the repair gang works. These lines are operated directly to the batteries and trenches, and carry heavy loaded cars on each trip through the rolling country. Careful watch has to be kept on the entire system, especially after rain; weather. The rails in many places vary in height to such an extent that the entire train rocks like a cradle when the train is in motion. We often watch trains as they roll along under a speed of 20 to 30 miles an hour, and wonder how they manage to keep on the iron and not topple over in the drain beside the railroad. In certain parts of the system rights can be used (only recently)—on other parts of the system no lights are ever used under sentence of court martial. You can understand why care and caution must be exercised then—or when a derailment occurs?

Building a Happy Home.

A heavy rain was falling the first day we arrived here—without a tent. Another man and I walked two miles "down" to headquarters for the tent. We passed a train coming "up." When we arrived at headquarters we learned our tent had been sent "up" to us on that train. And when we arrived back here we were drenched to the skin. The tent was a small, conical one, just large enough to hold the six cots of the men of the company I am in. The wind and rain was so strong that the tent fell twice after we had it placed. For about three hours it was "duck in and duck out" for us. The last time we drove 18 inch pegs for the guys, and had no more trouble during the five days' rain. Other men were sent at different periods until there was eight here. A large square tent was issued and used for more than a month. The weather became colder. Another man was sent "up" here. We made a quick decision to build the hut and dug-out as soon as possible and not wait any longer for the long-promised material and men to build it. So we organized forage parties as we had nothing with which to begin our hut. We were lucky! We obtained 3 hammers, 2 saws, nails, old boards, posts, corrugated iron for sides and roof, old stove-pipe and material for lining the hut. After our hut was erected, we finally located a stove—and "foraged" it one evening. It was very small. On our way "up" again we located and "foraged" a larger one and left the small one in its place. We have it now in operation every day and are well repaid for the time spent to "forage." During several heavy rains I awoke to find a pool in my poncho—which is always placed over us at night. Finally, it became so bad that I "foraged" and secured some good iron and made a second roof which could protect us from rain, shrapnel or machine-gun fire. We did all our "foraging" at night. ("Up" means toward the trenches; "down" means going back behind the lines.) We built it 8x10x40 feet. When three more men were sent here we found we had just room enough for the cots (12 cots leave very little room, but it is our home while here. Very few have a hut that can compare with it.) When we were assigned here, we had a pretty hard time. I cannot mention more. And were it not for the assistance of our English cousins we would have fared worse. Every day here now has a pretty deep, warm feeling toward them. We cannot forget their assistance.

Game Plentiful but Wary.

Quail, rabbits and Belgian hares are numerous here. We often see them in the fields, and after a light snow we would go through the fields and old trenches to look at their tracks. The resting-places and tracks were very plain and numerous. And we decided to try to trap some. We have with us here, Private William J. Sweeney, of the West Springfield Railroad Y. M. C. A., who is known as "The Border Boy," from his experience while on the Mexican border. We accorded him the honor of catching them in any way he could devise. Our votes declared him as elected for the office of "Hunter and Trapper." But there would be no decorations for excellent work. An old cartridge box was built as a rabbit trap, similar to a box trap. It has been set a number of times but no rabbits have been caught. "Border Boy" is too foxey and knows more than we gave him credit for. We watched one circle the traps three times one moonlight night, and then set upon its haunches and study the contrivance, and to us, 100 feet away, it appeared as though the rabbit scratched his head with one foot before he finally went away. "That was enough for us." "The Border Boy" heard from us that night. We lost our box-trap. The "Jocks" (Scolars) appropriated it for firewood.

With the quail our experience was the same. The trap was of wire, placed near a good spot and wired to iron pegs in the ground, with a hole near the end for the quail to follow a string of oats on the snow leading into the trap. They never followed. They were educated quail. The oats were gone from around the trap, but inside the trap were the same oats. One morning a dead quail was found near the trap. That settled it. We have seen two and three, and as soon as the quail saw the trap they would drop dead from laughter at the peculiar appearance of it. We will now elect someone who can get them. Quail and rabbit are good eating. "The Border Boy" and "Indian" Davis of Middletown, N. Y., joined hands but failed to get anything, as the concussion from the heavy guns caused the traps to fall a few minutes after they were set. As soon as we learned the army regulations in force here specified that game was not to be taken in any manner, we pulled out our "game" tooth and burned the traps.

We may some day move behind our own troops and leave behind us the hut for others who may enjoy it as much as we have. So you can see our work has not been done for our pleasure. We believe in the 11th commandment. "Child! Look out for yourself."

Our corrugated iron control station, with all equipment, was moved some time ago to get a better view of the line. It was very cold even with two stoves—one a German stove. The other made of two petrol cans joined together. We are now boarding it with cartridge boxes for winter, and banking dirt around sides as a protection from the new bombs that burst and act on the same principle as an inverted umbrella—"in and out."

The manhood of France has been sacrificed. Behind the lines you see only women, old men and very young children. The women and young boys do the hard labor as good as the men did—and never complain about their heavy burden. We cannot describe the friendliness shown toward our boys here. Although very few of us understand their language, we have very little trouble in "getting by." They understand very quickly.

The British Y. M. C. A.

We often go to the British Expeditionary force from many regiments there, buy our paper, write, sing and breathe the atmosphere that has made this branch such a success. But we often think of, and wish for, one like the American Y. M. C. A. We had at our camp in America. There are many "somewhere in France," but none out in the desolate section of France. And every man here does long for one. People at home cannot understand conditions here from reports in newspapers. We are not allowed to give any idea of them. But one should first see them, as we have, to understand.

The majority of the men have had their overcoats shortened by the tailors in the English regiments. We hated to do so, but they were so long we were unable to move very quickly. The shortened overcoats enable us to move more free and easy. Many sweaters and head pieces have been issued. I may get mine soon as the weather is very cold now.

Battles in the Air.

During our time here we have witnessed two aerial battles. Two balloons and one airplane have been destroyed by fire, while the men escaped, by use of their parachutes, after a close shave. We have seen German planes over our heads, heavily shelled by the anti-aircraft guns and driven out of range. We have watched evolutions in aviation that could not be duplicated at any aviation meet in America. Many of the men can tell the different planes from the sounds of the motors.

The transportation of mail from home to France requires three weeks or more. The packages require more time. Much mail arrives in a terrible condition. I have 18 packages coming—none have arrived yet, but packages require from one to three months. Letters, packages, or mail of any description look big to the boys here. Reading matter, books, novels, paper, or anything that can help to break the monotony is always appreciated, no matter how old they are. We are some book-worms when we get them.

Engineers Not Tin Soldiers.

From the tone of several letters received lately, it appears that many people think the Engineer Railway Regiments are "Safety First Regiments." Allow me to state that whoever thinks that is true, has a few more guesses coming. Every man here joined willingly to try to do his "bit" wherever needed. There may have been times when dissatisfaction could have been apparent, but matters have been smoothed over to such an extent that everyone feels quite satisfied. Where the men formerly worked from 12 to 20 hours each day, matters have been adjusted, so that there is very little friction and better hours. Every man feels fine. The health and morale of the regiment is almost perfect. I understand 1,987 applications were considered and examined before the company I am in was recruited to its full strength of 190 men. That fact alone proves the standard of the men in the companies. It was the same with all other regiments in railway service here in France. The men had to be almost perfect, physically and mentally, for the responsibility connected with their future work in France.

Red Cross Nurses.

We often see the nurses from the Casualty Clearing Station (Red Cross Hospital near where our comrades now sleep) out for a morning "constitutional" (walk) along the main road here. As were formerly did not see women for a long period, we have recovered from the sudden shock we experienced when he saw them for the first time. They have great courage and determination when they sacrifice the comforts of home and hospitals to volunteer and consecrate their energy and devotion to attend to those who may need attention. What sacrifices they make when they come out here or over the ocean to "somewhere in France?" And knowing the conditions and environment over here; do you wonder that we would take our hats off to them no matter who they may be or their situation in life wherever they lived?

Those Mounds in the Fields.

As one journeys through the fields looking at objects of interest in and around the old trenches, some round mounds can be seen with the grass very high on each and poppies growing profusely in among the grass. These mounds are left over from our travels. Sometime ago the men stationed at a control station three miles down from us decided to build a hut for the winner. They measured a space and began to dig the hole for the corner-post. The ground suddenly lowered about a foot. When they were able to get the spade loosened, and saw what was there, all work ceased for that spot. The last seen of the sergeant was while he was making a bee-line for the wet canten over the top of the hill. The hut has since been built—but at another place. Whenever we see the round mounds in the fields near here, we always think of the above incident.

German Hot Air.

A week ago we were watching a number of airplanes give an excellent demonstration of dare-devil flying and diving. When I noticed a large red paper balloon coming from the direction of the German lines. We watched it slowly drop until it finally settled in the mass of barbed wire; but was released and bumped along like a rubber ball until it settled in the mass of barbed wire. Several of the men ran over to the hill; but before they could get there men appeared from every direction on the same errand. One of the English lads finally captured it and all the German propaganda papers except three. And I managed to see that. It was interesting. But the news was old stuff to us. Later another came over and I sprinted about one-half a mile for that one. The barbed wire got that, but the balloon was intact and was captured by one of our lads in another company. Those papers were printed in French. (Enough said for me.) The third balloon was seen slowly passing here at a good height, and no doubt found a resting place farther down the valley. Although we watched for more none appeared in our section. I had hoped to get a paper as a souvenir. At the end of the day all I had to show for my run was "hopes."

Railroading in the Fog.

One Saturday afternoon about two months ago a heavy fog settled down in the valley at 3 o'clock. Later we received an order to check up all empty cars and report at once. After our report was in we were notified to have a large number of empty cars at a certain place Sunday morning at a certain hour. At that hour the fog was still with us—as dense as ever. The trains of empty cars proceeded under a caution to this place and remained there some time owing to a delay in the movements. While awaiting orders, the steam valves blew off and the whistles played "suckholes" (short toots) in the air. About 10 a. m. the droning sound of motors could be heard above us as the fog slowly lifted. Then the anti-aircraft guns began shelling the places. In about 10 minutes the sound of the motors became very faint and finally ceased. At 11:45 the first train received orders and pulled out, closely followed by the others. Nine trains of heavily loaded cars passed our control station in one hour and five minutes. Twice during the movement the anti-aircraft guns were working at a great rate at an airplane which followed the second train, but the airplane was moving so fast and climbing so high that it escaped before the pursuing machine could get close enough to give battle. (The German plane had too much of a start and got away from the planes we had seen in chase.) While the trains were in motion we had an excellent view as they passed, rocking like a cradle, until they reached the curve and then on to the main line with the wheels clear on one side. We have one spot here in the valley where the "scenic railway" is worse than Jack-o'-lantern at Coney Island, or the large one at Palisade Park in New Jersey, for dips and turns and rocking motions.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The whole great problem of winning the war rests primarily on one thing, the loyalty and sacrifice of the American people in the matter of food. If we are selfish or even careless, we are disloyal; we are the enemy at home. Now is the hour of our testing.

NUTS A GOOD MEAT SUBSTITUTE.

Nuts are a valuable food and with the different kinds one need not fear using them too often. Nuts like legumes are rich in protein and fat. Peanut Loaf—Take a cupful of soft bread crumbs, three-fourths of a cupful of peanut butter, half a cupful of cooked rice, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, a teaspoonful of poultry dressing and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Combine the ingredients, mold into a loaf and bake thirty minutes. Unmold, and serve with tomato sauce or catsup.

Nut and Cheese Loaf—Take a cupful of rich grated cheese, one cupful of English walnut or hickory nut meats, a cupful of dry bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of water, a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of pepper, two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion and a tablespoonful of oil. Cook the onion in the oil and water until tender. Add crumbs, nuts and cheese with seasonings. Bake in a loaf till brown. Garnish with lemon points.

Nut Croquettes—Take one cupful of any kind of nut meats at hand, add a half cupful each of bread crumbs and cooked rice, soak the crumbs in half a cupful of milk, add an egg slightly beaten, a teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. Mold, dip in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat, using corn or other vegetable oil.

Nut, Cheese Date Salad—Stuff dates with cream cheese after removing the pits from the dates. Roll in ground nuts and pile on a salad plate with a mound of mayonnaise in the center.

Nut Muffins—Take one and a half cupfuls of barley flour, add a half teaspoonful of soda to a half cupful of sour milk, a half teaspoonful of salt. Mix with a half cupful of molasses, one egg and a half cupful of bicoryn nuts. Add a teaspoonful of baking powder to the barley flour. Mix as usual, giving the batter a good beating, pour into greased muffin pans and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, June 12.—The Cottekill Reformed Church will hold a big celebration on the grounds of the above church on the afternoon and evening of July 4th. A full line of refreshments will be for sale both afternoon and evening, and commencing at 6 p. m. and until all are served, a supper, such as this church is noted for, will be served. The committees in charge are planning for numerous attractions, both afternoon and evening, which will be announced in these columns at a later date and also by posters. All are cordially invited. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. If stormy, the next fair afternoon and evening.

The Methodist Sunday school are rehearsing for their Children's Day exercises. Several members of the Reformed Sunday school are kindly assisting with the program. School closes June 20th for the summer.

The passenger fare to Kingston has been advanced one cent and is now 24 cents, the half fare remaining the same. A rate of three cents per mile is now charged, plus the war tax on amounts of 35 cents and over. Children's Day exercises were observed in the Reformed Sunday school on Sunday evening last. Several out of town people motored in to enjoy the exercises. Much credit is due Superintendent Walker and his assistants, as well as those who so kindly took part.

The ice cream social held in the Methodist Church on Thursday evening proved very successful. The sum of $17 was realized for the church. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stoll are rejoicing over the arrival of a 14 pound baby boy, which was born Sunday, May 26.

At the annual school meeting held in the school house one evening the past week the following were elected for the ensuing year: Jesse Davis, trustee for three years; A. J. Snyder, trustee for two years; W. H. Rhinehart, trustee for one year; G. W. Bock, clerk; Harry Sander, treasurer, and J. A. Keator, collector. According to the law of this year, both the treasurer and collector will be required to furnish either a personal or security bond for the amounts involved.

A number in this village had an opportunity of witnessing the eclipse of the sun on Saturday evening last. It being a clear night it was visible very plainly. This is the first visible eclipse here since Mar. 1900. A few summer boarders have arrived.

Giles of Poughkeepsie, is spending some time at the home of her cousin, Isora Giles.

Mr. and Mrs. William Giles of Poughkeepsie, spent Sunday with Mr. Giles's brother, George Giles. Mr. and Mrs. Steinmatt have moved into Mrs. Beddel's house.

Christian Endeavor is held every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The following new committees have been appointed: Leadership committee, Miss Isora Giles, chairman; Miss Blanche Hughes and Clide Winchell; Lockett committee, George Giles, chairman; and Daniel B. Sampson, Entertainment committee. Mrs. I. H. Dumont, chairman; Miss Elizabeth Giles and Charles Giles. We are in hopes that the committees will get busy and that the members will all turn out to the meetings. The topic for next Sunday evening is "Co-operation with the Sunday School." The leader will be announced later.

Children's Day exercises will be held in the Reformed Church on June 23, at 11 o'clock. The children are being trained by Mrs. I. H. Dumont and Miss Isora Giles. All are invited to come.

June 21 there will be held at the Reformed Church a Junk Social. We are in hopes that all coming will bring a piece of some junk, iron or rubber. This will be gathered and sold for the benefit of the church. The ladies will also furnish refreshments. All come and enjoy a social time.

Ernest Renson is in Albany for the week. Mrs. Benj. Giles spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Charles Davis of Kingston, who is quite ill. Miss Dorothy Hyde spent Sunday at her home in this place.

REVISING SCHOOL HISTORIES.

Prof. McLaughlin of the University of Chicago and other American historical writers have of late expressed the opinion that American school histories are in need of revision in so far as they discuss the relations between the United States and Great Britain from 1776 down to recent times. This suggestion seems worthy of serious consideration in view of the actual present and probable future relations of the two countries. Perhaps our school histories are more at fault in what they omit than in what they assert. We had perfectly good reasons both for fighting to gain our independence in the first place and for going to war with Great Britain in 1812, as our school histories show, but what they fail to show is that in both cases our quarrel was not with the most enlightened English statesmen or the masses of the English people but with the government misrepresenting them, a government that in the first instance was dominated by a German king.

Our school histories ought to make it clear further that this is not the first but really the third time that England and America have stood together against the menace of an aggressive autocracy and militarism of continental Europe. The first alliance of this sort was made a fact in all true essentials when, in 1802, Prime Minister Addington, speaking for the British government and nation, offered to seize and hold New Orleans "for the United States," which offer, with the power of the sea-ruling British fleet behind it, checked Napoleon Bonaparte's scheme of vast empire in North America and induced him to hearken to President Jefferson's proposal to purchase the great Louisiana territory the French conqueror had planned to extend. This friendly offer from the mother country followed a conference through our minister at London inspired by Jefferson as soon as he had certain assurance that Napoleon's ambition threatened even the New World.

A second understanding of a similar sort was reached in 1823 under a new menace from autocracy and militarism in continental Europe in the form of the so-called Holy Alliance. It was then that Premier Canning proposed and offered to support the principle since known as the Monroe Doctrine, the initiative being thus taken in England and an understanding between the two kindred nations reached before President Monroe boldly announced the celebrated "doctrine" warning European land-grabbers not to seek territorial aggrandizement in the Western Hemisphere. Such illuminating facts as these ought to receive mention in our school histories and it should be made clear that, although our two wars with England were for good cause, the heart and conscience of the British people, backed by the power of their fleet, supported us whenever in the earlier times we were threatened by military autocracy in continental Europe.

ALL RACES IN FOCH'S ARMY.

To say that the whole world is in arms against the Teutonic outlaws is to be less extravagant than might be supposed. All the nations outside of the Teutonic alliance have not joined the Allies, but it is literally true that representatives of practically every race in the old world are serving under Generalissimo Foch. Among the whites with our European allies are French, Italian, English, Scottish, Welsh, Irish, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, Portuguese, South African (of both English and Dutch descent), while in the American army there is not only the blood of all the white races named but of practically every other nation of Europe, all branches of the white race being thus represented in the total.

The yellow, red and black races are also widely represented. The Asiatic elements include volunteers from the native States of India, representatives from the French colony of Cochinchina, from Annam, Cambodia, Tonkin, Laos and Kwang Chau Wan. Both England and France are employing blacks from central and south Africa as well as from the north African races. Both Canada and the United States have enlisted Indians and our negroes are largely represented. Several of the Polynesian races are also represented.

ed, as the Maoris and Samoans. Adding the Teutonic blood in our own army, the Russian volunteers in France, etc., etc., it may be said that the army fighting for civilization under Foch represents the whole human race.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, June 12.—Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at their rooms in Spinnewebber's hall at 8 o'clock.

Philip Millsbaugh of Brooklyn is visiting his sisters, Mrs. Carey Secor and Mrs. Webster Munson.

Mrs. Hiram T. Van Wert is spending a few days with her husband, Captain Hiram Van Wert, in Hoboken, N. J.

Alva Drake, highway commissioner of Esopus, has moved the stone crusher, roller and road apparatus to May Park preparatory to grading and top-dressing the Eddyville road from Salem street to Eddyville. The road is in a miserable condition and is much in need of repairs.

A business and social meeting of the Epworth League Society will be held in the chapel this evening at 8 o'clock. The entertainment given in the Methodist Church Tuesday was well attended. The singing by Mrs. Helen Stern Mann of Kingston was very much enjoyed. The sketch by the Port Ewen Dramatic Society was fine, true to life. The supper served by the Ladies' Aid was one of the best.

Grade examinations are being held in Port Ewen Public School today and tomorrow. Regents' examinations will be held next week. The program for regents' examinations is as follows:

Monday, June 17, 1:15 p. m., elementary English.

Tuesday, June 18, 9:15 a. m., arithmetic; 1:15 p. m., spelling.

Wednesday, June 19, 9:15 a. m., geography; 1:15 p. m., elementary United States History with civics.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haynes motored to the head of Broad St. Hollow last Sunday.

Clothes for Elderly Men

THERE are really very few "old men" these days; some men have simply lived longer than others.

These older men are good clothes buyers; they've learned by experience that good quality is the only thing that pays. They want all-wool fabrics, the best of tailoring; and they're young enough in spirit to want good style make clothes that suit men of that type; and we sell them.

We invite all men, young men and older, to see these unusual suits and overcoats

Can All You Need.

In view of war-time conditions the canning season presents the problem of how much fruit and how many vegetables can be prepared for future use without overstepping the regulations governing the use of sugar or the conservation of food.

"May the housewife put up an unlimited supply of canned goods and not be accused of hoarding." In response to the question John R. Munn, chief of the Canned Goods Division, United States Food Administration, said:

"The Food Administration urges the canning of foodstuffs in the home to the limit of home consumption."

"If it is desirable to put up more than one year's supply, the Food Administration can have no objection, but cautions the canner that there may be spoilage and loss if the preserved foods have to be held over a long period."

It is not economical for the canner to have the idea of disposing of any surplus through commercial channels, but the Food Administration does urge in the season of production the preserving of as much food as possible for home consumption."

Order Food Containers Now.

Fight Against Hearst Papers 'All Camouflage'

An Editorial from the Albany Times-Union of June 4, 1918.

[The Times-Union is owned and edited by Hon. Martin M. Glynn, former Governor of New York, chosen by President Wilson to renominate Mr. Wilson for President in the Democratic National Convention of 1912.]

THE conspiracy against the Hearst publications and Mr. Hearst personally reflects no credit on any of the parties concerned in it. There is no patriotism, no loyalty to the Government, no fidelity to principle or even a semblance of decency in such an onslaught.

The same elements that are fighting Mr. Hearst in this underhand manner have been fighting him ever since he entered the field to help bring justice from big business. Some papers that are exploiting the matter are merely house organs of big business, and every man who is taking part in the fight on Hearst is either one who is in the employ of the agents of corporate greed or is an innocent and misguided victim of such. Doubtless many good men have succumbed to the wiles and persuasiveness of the anti-Hearst propagandist, but they do not understand the motive behind the effort.

Patriotism has nothing to do with it.

Pro-German or pro-Ally cuts no figure whatever.

These thin veils are used to cover the hideousness of a conspiracy to punish Mr. Hearst for the fight of years he has been making for the people.

"EVERY CORRUPTING INTEREST FIGHTING,"

Every corrupting element that has hung about the lobbies of Washington and Albany is now fighting Hearst, as they have fought him for years.

Every agent of big and corrupt business is fighting him.

Every highly respectable schemer that robbed the stockholders of the railroads up to the day the Government took control is in this fight against him.

Every railroad manager and director who has robbed his employees to pay out in dividends the money that should have gone to the men in better wages is in this fight against Hearst, for they regard him as their enemy.

Certain papers leading the fight are the house organs of corrupt big business and war profiteers, and the tools they are using are the same men who have drawn fat retainers from big business for showing its members how far they could go in the work of plundering the public and still keep out of jail.

Every one of these enemies of the people is arrayed against Hearst and is squealing about his own loyalty and patriotism. In the case of nearly every one of them, patriotism merely means profit, and they regard politics only as it offers opportunity for plundering the people.

"POLITICAL PLUNDERERS AGAINST HIM."

Hearst has been for the people, and political plunderers are against him.

Hearst is for Government ownership of public utilities, and those who have piled up fortunes financing them under private ownership are against him.

Hearst has stood for organized labor for years and has fought its battles, and all the big moneyed men who believe that capital should organize in every possible way but labor should not be permitted to organize at all are fighting him and parading their patriotism as an argument. It is true that Mr. Hearst did not want this country to go into the war if it could keep out and protect its honor and interest. There are many millions of men who felt as Mr. Hearst felt before our entrance into the struggle. But these people are standing loyally, firmly and patriotically with the President, while many of the early howlers for war lost their enthusiasm as soon as we got into the struggle.

In this fight on Hearst the cry of patriotism made by the howlers is only a refuge for profiteers. It is a fight on the people rather than on Hearst. IT'S THE SAME OLD FIGHT THAT HAS GONE ON FOR YEARS AND WILL GO ON AS LONG AS THE POSSIBILITY OF PUBLIC PLUNDER EXISTS AND MEN ARE FOUND TO STAND IN THE WAY OF THE PLUNDERERS.

LEAVES $23,000 TO INSTITUTIONS

Will of Late Mrs. O'Leary is Filed—Kingston City Hospital is Left $5,000—Requests to Other Institutions—Balance of Estate Left to Relatives and Friends.

Under the terms of the will of the late Jane S. Noone O'Leary, which has been filed with Surrogate Gill, the Kingston City Hospital is bequeathed $5,000 with the request that the income from this sum be used for the maintenance of a charity ward. The request is made that this fund be known as the "Luke and Mary Noone Fund."

Requests totalling over $60,000 are made. As the will has not been proved yet the exact value of the estate is not known. A number of bequests are made to charitable institutions and hospitals, and relatives and friends. Mary A. Fitzgerald of New York city and Sarah C. Bernard of this city are the executrices.

Besides the bequest to the Kingston City Hospital, the following bequests are made to other institutions:

Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis, Inc., $2,000; Hospital for the Treatment of Incurable Cancer, at Hawthorne, Westchester county, (this institution is known as Rosary Hill Home) $4,000; Catholic Church Extension Society of the United States of America, an institution incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan, $5,000; St. Frances Convent for Orphan children, Peekskill, N. Y., $5,000.

The following bequests are made to individuals:

To her first cousins on her father's side, residing in Ireland, each $3,000.

Mary A. Fitzgerald, a cousin, of New York city, $6,000.

Mary Noone, a cousin of Kingston, $6,000.

Mary C. Conwell, a cousin, of Brooklyn, $5,000.

Annie Diamond, a cousin, of Kingston, $4,000.

Jane M. Cusack, a cousin, of New York, $3,000.

Catherine Madden, daughter of George P. Madden, of Kingston, $3,000.

Mary Diamond, a cousin, of the town of Esopus, $5,000.

Rosie Devine, a cousin now of the Ursuline Convent, at Three Rivers, Province of Quebec, Canada, $2,000, with the request that one-half be applied toward the support and maintenance of her brother, James Devine, of Boston.

Miss Elsie Halverson, of Kingston, $5,000, "in consideration of long and faithful service."

Miss Nellie Cooper, daughter of Charles Cooper, of Kingston, $1,000.

Alice P. Purcell, of Kingston, $500.

Elizabeth Purcell, of Kingston, $500.

Theresa Hallihan, of New York, formerly of Kingston, $1,000.

Isabella Diamond, wife of George Diamond, of New York city, $1,000.

Elvena Halverson of Kingston, $300.

Mrs. Anna Tindale, her sister, of Kingston, remainder of estate.

The will is dated February 20, 1918, with a codicil attached, dated April 22, 1918. Both were witnessed by Joseph M. Fowler and Philip Elting.

GOOD COOK TO BE ENVIED

Always Sure of Popularity is the Person Who Can Concoct Dishes That Are Appetizing.

To prove that there is nothing intrinsically humble or shameful in cooking it is only necessary to mention a hunting or fishing party. The man who can turn out a palatable dish is envied and lauded. The college girl who can concoct midnight suppers over a can of frozen alcohol or a gas jet is sure of popularity. Many of the great of the earth have practiced cooking as an accomplishment. Louis XV, one of the extreme connoisseurs in the art of living, prided himself on his coffee. One of the most famous of table sauces was invented by a gentleman of Worcestershire. Many great ladies of the olden times used to exchange recipes. Sir Kenelm Digby, an adventurous and scholarly soul, left a fat volume full of them, ranging from simple apple sauce to the most refined elaboration of game.

It is not even necessary that cookery should aspire to the phase called "fancy" to be artistic. Above all, the sauce, that idol of the professional chef, should be detested from its bad eminence. The sauce is the mother of nightmares. The dish itself and not its accompaniments, is the thing. Cooking is real, cooking is earnest, and the gravy is not its goal.—Exchange.

Spruce Used in Airplanes.

Because the government needs all the spruce for airplanes, the piano manufacturers of the country are having a hard time to get sounding boards for their instruments. Spruce is the best wood the piano manufacturers can get for this purpose and they have used it in immense quantities for many years.

But sounding boards and airplane beams call for the same quality of stock—clear, straight-grained, tough-fibered and free from blemishes. In their desire to assist the government in airplane construction the piano manufacturers have agreed to curtail their output 30 per cent during the war. They can get along with the spruce stock now on hand for some time, they say. Meanwhile they will try to find a substitute for spruce. Several of the big spruce producing mills in the Grays Harbor district of Washington and along the Columbia river in Oregon that always have made a specialty of piano stock now are giving their attention to airplane material.

HAVE TO KNOW MULE NATURE

Drivers of Patient Animals Realize They Have Peculiarities and Must Be Humored.

An old flea-bitten, hammer-headed, necked bell mare, slowly picking her way across the corral at the remount station at Camp Zachary Taylor, followed by a long string of mules walking in single file, heads down and ears wagging, served as illustration for an officer attached to the big command who had just finished remarking that "horse nature and mule nature and human nature were mighty contrary things any way you take them."

"Now, take those mules," he said. The education of a pack mule is a thing that must begin early. He has just two purposes in life.

"One is to carry 225 pounds day after day patiently and uncomplainingly, and the other is to follow the bell more of the train, regardless of where that animal may go. Well, there is in that corral an illustration of the effectiveness of our training. The old mare has started after a drink of water and there goes every dad-blasted one of those fool mules after a drink of water."

Investigation revealed that the pack mule is not the only member of his family that has peculiarities that can be played upon or must be humored. It was learned that the larger mules, once teamed up or paired, must thereafter be worked together if each is not to suffer a loss in efficiency. Two strange mules will not work together anything like so well in the beginning as they will a few weeks later, after they have become well-acquainted, and then if they are parted the whole process must be gone over with again.

Dressing for Dinner.

The custom of dressing for dinner was handed down to us from the Romans, who put on a loose robe of light texture, and generally white, before going to the most important meal of the day. Instances occur where it was kept in readiness for guests who came from a distance and had had no opportunity of dressing before arrival.

Value in Association.

"I believe in association as the sole means of realizing progress—not merely because it multiplies the action of the productive forces, but because it tends to unite all the various manifestations of the human mind, and to bring the life of the individual into communion with the collective life of the whole.—Mazzini.

Garden Club Adopts War Orphan.

A very enjoyable and profitable meeting of the Ulster Garden Club was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Spalding in Saugerties. At the meeting a sufficient amount of money was pledged for the support of a little French orphan for one year, and so enthusiastically did the club members become over the project that it is thought that a sufficient amount will be raised by the next meeting to adopt a second of the little waifs.

The club was greatly interested in hearing Mrs. Leggett tell of her personal experience with farmettes who are employed on her farm. Her report was very favorable.

One of the very delightful features of the afternoon was the readings given by Miss Driscoll of Catskill who read from her own poems on birds and flowers, with an occasional war poem. Many of the poems of the garden were considered as real classics of the day. The next meeting of the Ulster Garden Club will be at the home of Mrs. John Washburn in Saugerties.

Rich Platinum Rock.

Platinum is now being secured in Siberia from dunite, a conglomerate rock, which exists there in large quantities. By grinding and washing processes the platinum is extracted from the chromite ore contained in the rock. A recent experiment secured 200 ounces of platinum out of 9,720 pounds of chromite slack.

TEDDY
ED BY BOTH

Famous Artist, Now
Mrs. Mason Will
City Marshal

When the job of city marshal was given to Mr. Mason, it was a surprise to many, as the famous ball player and the office, has found. His first visit was a hurried visit to the residence of Mrs. Mason at No. 80 West Union street, where he seized the handsome Scotch collie, whose ownership is claimed by both Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Cecelia B. Wentworth of Peekamoose.

City Marshal Rice escorted Teddy to the police headquarters and then as the city has no pound master, since the Hon. George K. Horton removed south, it was decided to escort Teddy to the veterinary stables of Dr. J. A. Hubne on West Union street, where Teddy was turned over to the care of Charlie Belton. The trip to see Charlie was made in the police car with Officer Gus Kuehn at the wheel. Officer Gus is also a lover of fine dogs.

It might be well to make a separate paragraph that City Marshal Rice is mighty thankful that Teddy is of a gentle disposition and made no trouble at all when seized.

Mrs. Wentworth, who has a residence in Paris, France, and also at Peekamoose, is said to be a noted artist. She claimed she boarded Teddy with Mrs. Mason, and when the latter refused to give up Teddy she took legal steps. On the other hand Mrs. Mason claims that Mrs. Wentworth presented Teddy to her, and it is understood she has retained V. E. Van Wageningen to bring the necessary action in city court to get back the dog. W. D. Brinnier, Jr., is looking out for the interests of Mrs. Wentworth.

In the meantime City Marshal Rice is hoping no one will bring replevin proceedings to have him seize an elephant or some other such animal.

All Heat Within—All Cool Without

Light the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove—put on the cooking—take up your knitting—your time is your own. You don't have to stay in the kitchen. But you won't have to leave it, for while the New Perfection turns every drop of kerosene into clean, intense heat, it concentrates all the heat inside the chimney.

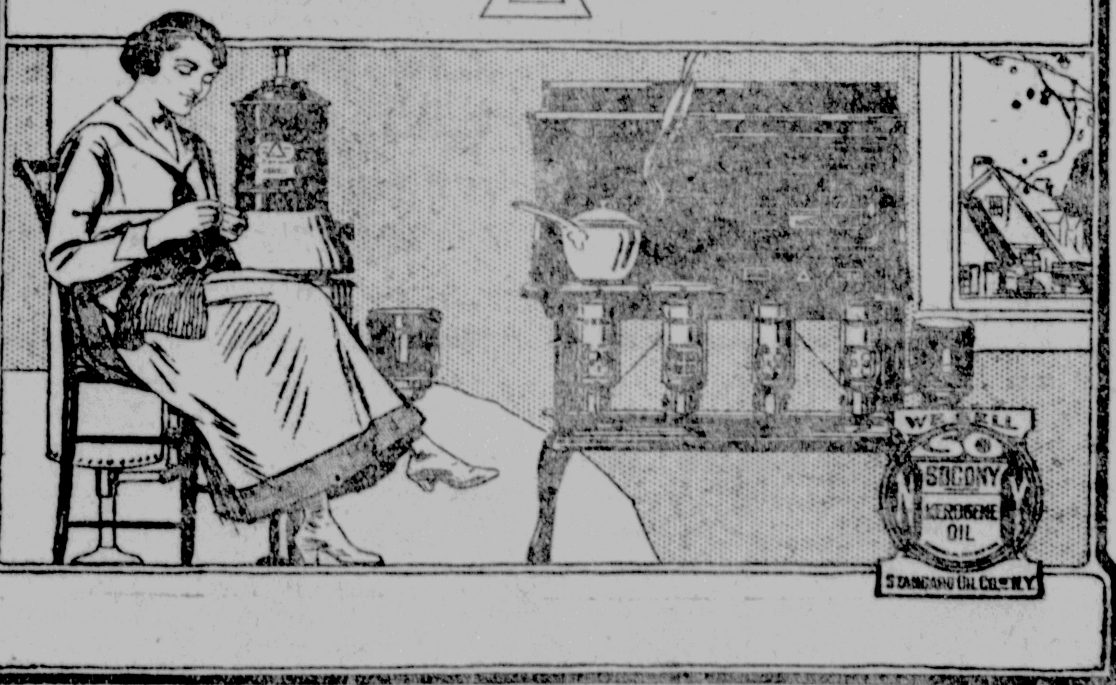

The New Perfection lights at the touch of a match and gives instant heat, without waste. Cooks fast or slow, without watching. Gives gas-stove comfort at the cost of kerosene—and frees you from the drudgery of coal, wood and ashes. That's why 3,000,000 are now in use.

Made in 1, 2, 3 and 4 burner sizes, with or without cabinet top. Also 4-burner stove with heat-retaining oven and cabinet complete. Ask your dealer about the New Perfection Water Heaters and the regular New Perfection ovens—none better.

Use SO-CO-NY Kerosene. Clean, convenient and inexpensive.

Let Children Read Aloud.
 Reading aloud in the home is of the utmost value. Let the children listen, and let them do some of the reading, even of interesting grownup books. It gives them not only a larger scope of ideas, but self-confidence in the use of a rapidly growing vocabulary. The right use of the mother-tongue is a very valuable accomplishment. But it takes time and pains to acquire it. And it begins at the very beginning—Exchange.

Nobody Interested.

SOME ALDERMEN THIRSTED NOT

But There Will Be a Large Delegation of City Officials on the Newburgh Trip to Learn Municipal Government.

The august solons who legislate for Kingston will place sacrifices on the altar of public duty and give a whole day's time to the study of aldermanic science. Some at least have promised Mayor Canfield and the president of the common council that they will at least put themselves in the way of learning how to run the profession of aldermen.

When the session was concluded last night a friend of one of the aldermen remarked, "This going to hear fellows tell you how to run a city government is all right, if you were going to stay in running it."

The common council, or at least part of them gave assurance that they would help make up the aldermanic party to Newburgh Thursday.

President Watts zealously urged them to devote at least one day to finding out how city government is best managed. He didn't use those words.

"It is earnestly desired by the mayor," he said, "that official Kingston should be represented as fully as possible at this meeting of the mayors of the state of New York in their annual session at Newburgh. I join in that request. Out of courtesy to our neighboring city with such a gathering of men distinguished in public affairs the least we can do is to give one day in attendance. You will be well paid for the trip. It will be a pleasant outing. The individual expense will be only what each of you make it. You will be welcomed by men who are prominent in municipal affairs throughout the state. Newburgh will be highly gratified, for your presence will help make this Newburgh meeting a success."

There was dead silence in the chamber for a moment. Alderman Schick wore a broad smile.

Alderman Schick was studying the decorative patterns on his desk. Alderman Preston, who is always interesting, had not yet arrived.

President Watts assured the aldermen that it is the mayor's dearest wish and fondest hope to greet the aldermen in the hilly city on Thursday; and that the mayor would be deeply shocked if anyone were missing. Those were not President Watts's words, but they are the best to convey his meaning.

The mayor is naturally anxious that Kingston officials should assist in making the Newburgh meeting a great success. Newburgh would doubtless rally at some time when Kingston might appreciate it. President Watts explained fully the object of these annual gatherings which go around from city to city; and it is hoped to bring Kingston in to it as a host some time.

"I am sure that all of us will be benefited by attending," said the president. "The talks on civil government are instructive."

The president also made it plain that this sort of wisdom flows freely that all may drink of it, who will. He pointed out that the lectures, exchange of views by experienced municipalists and the spirit of the occasion are intellectually uplifting.

Alderman Kelly didn't think he would find it convenient to attend. Alderman Schick would be glad to quaff of this font (those are not his words) but he would surely take a day off on the Fourth of July—and, well, he feared he couldn't "get off" Thursday.

Alderman Preston didn't deny that he too might be thirsting for a quaff; but his business would very likely prevent him from attending.

Alderman Connelly was absent. Otherwise the council appears to be in unanimity about attending. Alderman Powell thought the time was short because "tomorrow is Thursday." President Watts joining in the laughter over the alderman's mistake, remarked, that Alderman Powell had spent the previous day in Newburgh.

Four automobiles were wanted. Alderman Preston, Rosen and Mann volunteered the use of their cars. And there is no doubt another will be obtained.

The aldermen are to meet at the chain ferry tomorrow at 7:30 a. m. prompt, where the autos will be in waiting for them. Aldermen are assured that the run each way will be made safe and sound. Secretary Turner, appointed on the Fourth of July arrangements, will go along to keep a censor's eye on every alderman.

W. S. S. RALLY AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL

Senator John Quinn will be one of the speakers this evening at the W. S. S. rally to be held in St. Mary's school at 8 o'clock. Other speakers will be County Attorney John W. Eckert, Postmaster DeWitt and John E. Mahar. Patriotic music will be rendered and the public is invited.

Today Postmaster DeWitt and E. R. Alford conducted whirlwind W. S. S. meetings. At 12:15 they were at the Cornell shops, at 1:30 o'clock at the American cigar factory and at 2:30 o'clock at the Nitro powder plant. The meetings were held for the purpose of organizing W. S. S. Societies.

When the boys strike that minor chord then you know what blend means

Great stuff, isn't it, when the harmony hounds get together, and tear off a few yards from those good old-time songs.

Maybe their voices would make a regular music shark howl with pain. But when they strike those rich minor chords—boy, they're there with the wallop.

No music just like a quartet, you say, when the voices blend just right.

Get that word "blend?" That's the secret of the whole thing.

Not Jim's tenor, nor Bill's sub-bass that starts down in his toes, but the way they fit together tells the tale.

There's a lot in that word "blend."

It's the secret of a lot of good things—cigarettes, for instance. That blend idea has made Mecca the favorite cigarette with over a million smokers. There are twelve mighty choice tobaccos used in Mecca cigarettes—five kinds of Turkish and seven kinds of American—but you don't taste the flavor of any one of them separately when you take a deep drag. The only flavor you get is the good old Mecca flavor.

No one tobacco has everything you want in a cigarette.

Each of the twelve tobaccos in Mecca cigarettes is picked for a special purpose. One for fragrance, another for smoothness, still another for body—to let you know you're really smoking—and so on down the line.

Here's how the still-blending process works. The different tobaccos are not just mixed, but are placed together in the blending still. Then moist heat is passed through until all the different flavors are drawn into one—the flavor that has made Mecca the favorite cigarette with over a million smokers.

Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.

Still-Blended

By the Mecca still-blending process, moist heat is passed through these twelve selected tobaccos. The full rich flavor of each is drawn out and merged into one, much as the full flavor of tea is drawn out by steeping. Only in this way can be obtained the Mecca flavor.

THERE ARE 8,000,000 LICENSED MOTOR CARS in the United States. In half a day enough Mecca cigarettes are made to supply every automobile driver with a Mecca.

To the Women of America.

An authoritative statement from official Washington again impresses upon the women of America the fact that "they have never been called upon before to bear so great a burden as the coming months will impose upon their courage and their constancy."

The message reads in part: "The women of America must see to it that the nation's producing power is not enfeebled by the draft made upon it to strengthen the fighting power. They must produce food by working gardens, by raising chickens, by doing farm service where they can or by helping and encouraging those who do it. They must aid in the kitchen, conserving food by wise economical canning, drying, preserving, pickling and preparing food in accordance with the food administration's program. They must purchase where they see the food administration's emblem, watch their local dealers, buy local produce in preference to shipped goods and resist the temptation to hoard.

"The food that we save for the allies is not a saving of money. It is a saving of life. It is worth more than its weight in gold."

Protection for Carrier Pigeons. Carrier pigeons in China are protected from birds of prey by an apparatus consisting of bamboo tubes fastened to the birds' bodies. As the pigeon flies, the air passing through the tubes produces a shrill whistling sound, which keeps the birds of prey at a distance.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS.

2280—A Simple Dress for Home or Work.

Linen, seersucker, crepe, gingham, chambray, lawn, serge, cashmere, flannel or drill are nice for this model. The dress is a one-piece model, with coat closing. The sleeve may be in wrist or elbow length.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 38 requires 4½ yards of 44 inch material. The skirt measures about 2½ yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10c in silver or stamps for our Up-to-Date Spring and Summer, 1918, Catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrated) all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, June 11.—An automobile party from Kingston were guests at the home of James Freer the past Sunday afternoon.

Miss Belle Van Wagenen, who has been visiting at the home of her brother, Luther Van Wagenen, of New York city, returned home Saturday past.

Miss Harriet Church, who attends Albany Normal School, is home for a few days.

Grade examinations are to be held in the High Falls Public School the last part of the week.

Onions Normal, returns home this Friday for the summer vacation.

Homers Terwilliger of Kingston spent the past week end at the home of George Terwilliger.

Painless Dentistry

The difference between painless and painful dentistry depends upon the carefulness and skillfulness of the operator. With good instruments, fresh medicines, local anaesthetics and nitrous oxide gas a careful and skillful dentist can perform all operations painlessly, even to the extraction of teeth.

Painless methods, earnest endeavor and reasonable prices have in thirty years, made the Cady Dental Corporation the largest dental organization in New York state.

Hours 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Sundays 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Strive to Keep Soul Youthful.

My body's old, but that's not my fault. I'm not to blame for an old body, but I would be to blame for an old soul. An old soul is a shameful thing.—Margaret Deland.

Flowers on Mountain Tops.

It is known that upon many of the summits of the high mountain ridges of the Hawaiian Islands, in the regions of heavy rainfall, are open bogs which support a peculiar and interesting flora. Many species form more or less hemispherical tussocks which rise above the general level of the bog. A showy lobelia with numerous large cream-colored flowers as much as three and a half inches long, peculiar violets and a sundew are found there.

No. 5 of a Series of Labor Conservation Chats

Avoid Having Your Telephone Moved Unless it is Absolutely Necessary

DURING AN AVERAGE MONTH we move approximately 13,000 telephones from one point to another within a building or from one point to another within a room.

ONETHOUSAND, ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE MEN of our Plant Department, formerly engaged in installing and moving telephones and work incidental thereto, are now in the military service of our country and others are constantly being called to the colors.

UNDER THESE CONDITIONS the employees who must remain at their posts are rendering a patriotic service of great importance in handling the increasing demands for war-time service.

IT IS IMPERATIVE, therefore, during the period of the war, that all unnecessary moving of telephones from one point to another within buildings or within offices be avoided.

BEFORE YOU REQUEST that your telephone be moved, will you please consider whether it cannot be left in its present location without material inconvenience to you.

YOU CAN HELP to conserve labor for the all-important work of furnishing telephone service for the Government and essential war industries, if you will.

Avoid having your telephone moved unless it is ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY

Canned Safety for the Home

THE daily use of ACME Chlorinated Lime about the home is the best Health Insurance a family can have.

Most diseases and many minor ailments are acquired and transmitted by germs in the food we eat, the water we drink or the air we breathe. ACME Chlorinated Lime kills germs; prevents disease.

At good grocers and druggists—15 cents. Insist on ACME. Substitutes may be stale and worthless.

All Heat Within—All Cool Without

Light the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove—put on the cooking—take up your knitting—your time is your own. You don't have to stay in the kitchen. But you won't have to leave it, for while the New Perfection turns every drop of kerosene into clean, intense heat, it concentrates all the heat inside the chimney.

The New Perfection lights at the touch of a match and gives instant heat, without waste. Cooks fast or slow, without watching. Gives gas-stove comfort at the cost of kerosene—and frees you from the drudgery of coal, wood and ashes. That's why 3,000,000 are now in use.

Made in 1, 2, 3 and 4 burner sizes, with or without cabinet top. Also 4-burner stove with heat-retaining oven and cabinet complete. Ask your dealer about the New Perfection Water Heaters and the regular New Perfection ovens—none better.

Use SO-CO-NY Kerosene. Clean, convenient and inexpensive.

Let Children Read Aloud.

Reading aloud in the home is of the utmost value. Let the children listen, and let them do some of the reading, even of interesting grownup books. It gives them not only a larger scope of ideas, but self-confidence in the use of a rapidly growing vocabulary. The right use of the mother-tongue is a very valuable accomplishment. But it takes time and pains to acquire it. And it begins at the very beginning—Exchange.

Nobody Interested.

"Now that I think only of my own affairs," said Selfishness, "they have ceased to interest any one else in the world."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Lack of quorum prevented the regular monthly meeting of the health board from being held Tuesday evening.

Since April 1, there have been 692 cases of measles reported to the health board. Tuesday seven new cases were reported.

The electric light people erected a huge new pole in front of the city hall this morning. The operation was watched with interest by a large number of spectators. In order to excavate a hole deep enough it had been necessary to use a blasting powder.

It is expected that the health board will shortly hold a special meeting to consider establishing a child welfare station in Kingston. The committee in charge have a nurse in view who will be recommended for appointment.

Street oil shipments to the city are being held up. All orders have to be approved at Washington before shipments can come through. This is the reason for the delay in oiling the city streets this season.

Down town business men are of the opinion that the police board should direct a traffic cop, or else a traffic standard should be placed at the corner of Strand and Broadway. This is considered one of the most dangerous corners in the city.

Since Chief of Police J. Allan Wood issued a warning that the speed ordinance of 15 miles an hour on the city streets would be enforced, it has been noticed that speeding has slackened up.

There were no cases in police court this morning.

Another Way to Carry a Rifle.

"I cannot carry a rifle but I can do without wheat," said a hoary-headed veteran of the Civil War recently. All the fighting spirit of the days of '63 was reflected in his determined look. His heart was still young enough to yearn to be over there with the boys of 1918. He wanted to do his part in settling once and for all the Hun's insult to civilization.

But though his heart was young, his rheumatic joints reminded him sadly that he could not hope to take any active part in today's war. He knew, however, that there was a part he could still play; he could contribute his share of the needed wheat to those who are actually carrying the rifles.

There are many men too old to carry rifles. There are some young men whose physical ills prevent them from going across. Then there are women and children who cannot be at the front. But all these can and should pledge themselves to eat no wheat during the critical shortage of the next three months.

It is only personal sacrifice and personal saving that will give us any wheat to send until next harvest. There are other foods in plenty for Americans to eat as wheat substitutes.

SOME ALDERMEN THIRSTED NOT

But There Will Be a Large Delegation of City Officials on the Newburgh Trip to Learn Municipal Government.

The august solons who legislate for Kingston will place sacrifices on the altar of public duty and give a whole day's time to the study of aldermanic science. Some at least have promised Mayor Canfield and the president of the common council that they will at least put themselves in the way of learning how to run the profession of aldermen.

When the session was concluded last night a friend of one of the aldermen remarked, "This going to hear fellows tell you how to run a city government is all right, if you were going to stay in running it."

The common council, or at least part of them gave assurance that they would help make up the aldermanic party to Newburgh Thursday. President Watts zealously urged them to devote at least one day to finding out how city government is best managed. He didn't use those words.

"It is earnestly desired by the mayor," he said, "that official Kingston should be represented as fully as possible at this meeting of the mayors of the state of New York in their annual session at Newburgh. I join in that request. Out of courtesy to our neighboring city with such a gathering of men distinguished in public affairs the least we can do is to give one day in attendance. You will be well paid for the trip. It will be a pleasant outing. The individual expense will be only what each of you make it. You will be welcomed by men who are prominent in municipal affairs throughout the state. Newburgh will be highly gratified, for your presence will help make this Newburgh meeting a success."

There was dead silence in the chamber for a moment. Alderman Schlip wore a broad smile.

Alderman Schick was studying the decorative patterns on his desk. Alderman Preston, who is always interesting, had not yet arrived.

President Watts assured the aldermen that it is the mayor's dearest wish and fondest hope to greet the aldermen in the hilly city on Thursday; and that the mayor would be deeply shocked if anyone were missing. Those were not President Watts's words, but they are the best to convey his meaning.

The mayor is naturally anxious that Kingston officials should assist in making the Newburgh meeting a great success. Newburgh would doubtless rally at some time when Kingston might appreciate it. President Watts explained fully the object of these annual gatherings which go around from city to city; and it is hoped to bring Kingston in to it as a host some time.

"I am sure that all of us will be benefited by attending," said the president. "The talks on civil government are instructive."

The president also made it plain that this fount of wisdom flows freely that all may drink of it, who will. He pointed out that the lectures, exchange of views by experienced municipalists and the spirit of the occasion are intellectually uplifting. Alderman Kelly didn't think he would find it convenient to attend. Alderman Schick would be glad to quaff of this font (those are not his words) but he would surely take a day off on the Fourth of July—and, well, he feared he couldn't "get off" Thursday.

Alderman Preston didn't deny that he too might be thirsting for a quaff; but his business would very likely prevent him from attending.

Alderman Connelly was absent. Otherwise the council appears to be in unanimity about attending. Alderman Powell thought the time was short because "tomorrow is Thursday." President Watts joining in the laughter over the aldermen's mistake, remarked, that Alderman Powell had spent the previous day in Newburgh.

Four automobiles were wanted. Alderman Preston, Roosa and Mann volunteered the use of their cars. And there is no doubt another will be obtained.

The aldermen are to meet at the chain ferry tomorrow at 7:30 a. m. prompt, where the autos will be in waiting for them. Aldermen are assured that the run each way will be made safe and sound. Secretary Turner, appointed on the Fourth of July arrangements, will go along to keep a censor's eye on every alderman.

W. S. S. RALLY AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL

Senator John Quinn will be one of the speakers this evening at the W. S. S. rally to be held in St. Mary's school at 8 o'clock. Other speakers will be County Attorney John W. Eckert, Postmaster DeWitt and John E. Mahar. Patriotic music will be rendered and the public is invited.

Today Postmaster DeWitt and E. R. Alford conducted whirlwind W. S. S. meetings. At 12:15 they were at the Cornell shops, at 1:30 o'clock at the American cigar factory and at 2:30 o'clock at the Nitro powder plant. The meetings were held for the purpose of organizing W. S. S. Societies.

MARRIED IN CAMP SURPRISE AT HOME

Two Kingston Boys in Military Wedding, Kissing Their Brides Good-bye and at Once Entraining for the Boat That Takes Them to France.

A double military wedding occurred at Camp Dix this week in which two of Kingston's boys figured as the stars of the occasion, though admittedly the lesser stars of that bridal constellation.

They kissed their brides, bade them fond adieus and joined the ranks at once, to be entrained for France. The two brides had the unusual honor of giving their husbands loving salutes after the boys had actually started for the overseas journey.

The first of Kingston's soldiers in this war to be honored with a military wedding with all the pomp that a regiment could give them were George Roche of 100 Tully street and Albert E. Deyo of 15 Downs street. Both are attached to the 39th Heavy Artillery. A star on the service flag that hangs over the entrance to The Freeman building down town is patriotic evidence that George Roche left a good job to respond to the call of the country.

The bride of George Roche was Miss Elida, the daughter of James Ticker of East Kingston, and Deyo's bride was Miss May Pearl Henrich.

Speaking of the weddings Mrs. George Roche, who is now home with her parents, said that the regiment drew up in line and marched to the regimental headquarters where the chaplain of the regiment married both couples. She remarked with a proud tone of voice: "And we were married under the American flag." She could not tell the name of the chaplain. She said she hadn't received her papers yet.

A telephone call at the residence of Mrs. S. R. Deyo, 155 Downs street, brought the reply that the family is away and the person answering the phone knew nothing about it.

A. M. Deyo, of the firm of S. R. Deyo, cider manufacturers, when asked about it over the phone responded:

"Married? Did you say? Married Albert? Well, I hadn't heard of it. That's good. I wish it had been there, then he'd be home. He's been healthy. It seemed to have been a great surprise to him. Albert's mother, Mrs. Alice Deyo, is the widow of S. R. Deyo, the cider manufacturer, and is still a large owner in the business."

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Miss Anna Powell of Schenectady is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Clifford Champion, on Green street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Enright are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son, at their home, 128 Newkirk avenue.

Miss Margaret McGowan of 50 Sycamore street, is spending her vacation with her sister, Mrs. G. W. Burnes of Brooklyn.

Myron Weil and Lawrence Whitehead of New York city, who have been the guest of Mr. Weil's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Weil, on Abruzz street, have returned to New York.

U-Boats Destroyed?

Norfolk, Va., June 12.—In spite of repeated official denials that any U-boats have been destroyed in American waters, a report persisted in naval circles here today that three German submarines have been destroyed since Sunday.

An attempt is being made to identify a mass of wreckage found floating at sea.

Auxiliary at Mrs. Powley's.

This month the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will be the last for the season. Instead of meeting at the Y. M. C. A. parlors as usual, the members of the auxiliary will meet at Mrs. Frank R. Powley's, No. 49 West Chestnut street, on Friday afternoon of this week at 3 o'clock.

136 GRADUATES AT WEST POINT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
West Point, N. Y., June 12.—One hundred and thirty-six new officers were added to the United States army here today when Secretary of War Baker handed diplomas to the cadets of the graduating class of the United States Military Academy. The cadets were prematurely graduated a year ahead of scheduled time.

Because of rain a review of the cadets, planned in honor of Secretary Baker, was called off. The graduating exercises were held in the gymnasium.

In an address to the cadets Baker related the policy of the government in its prosecution of the war, stating no new note.

Y. One half of the 1921 class departed today on a furlough which will last until July 22. On Friday 350 new cadets will report for admission to the academy.

The W. H. M. S. of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold their regular monthly meeting Thursday, June 13, at the home of Mrs. Emmet Silkworth, 350 Hasbrouck. An all-day social will be held. The ladies of the Foreign Auxiliary are invited, also any lady interested in missionary work.

Right Worthy Past D. D. Grace V. Merritt, R. W. Past A. L. S. D. Scudder, Miss Minnie Riseley, Mrs. Harry Klothe and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Osterman were guests of Mrs. Bertie C. Ford at her home chapter, Oak Hill, at which time she made her official visit. The trip in the heart of the Catskills by motor was greatly enjoyed.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

In New York on Monday, June 10th, occurred the deaths of two sisters, Adela Livingston Kearny, aged 72 years, and Caroline Gertrude Snyder, aged 74 years. Deceased were daughters of the late John Watt and Eliza Hammeken Kearny, who years ago were residents of Saugerties, owning and occupying the property on Barclay Heights, now owned by Mrs. E. A. Hurry. The bodies were brought to Saugerties this afternoon on the 2:59 train and a double funeral held immediately after in Trinity P. E. Church, Rev. Thomas Cole, officiating. Interment Trinity cemetery.

Nelson Bame, a native of Germantown, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Snyder, on Thompson street, Catskill, Monday, aged 91 years. Besides Mrs. Snyder his survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Oscar Wolven, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Egbert Snyder, of Saugerties. One son also survives, Charles Bame of Hudson. The funeral will be held from the Snyder home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock and the service will be conducted by Rev. P. N. Chase of Kingston, a former pastor of the Methodist Church in North Germantown. Burial will be in the North Germantown cemetery.

William Oscar Church, who was one of the most widely known men in this vicinity, died in Kingston on Wednesday, June 12. He was ninety-one years old. For a number of years he was master mechanic for the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, at High Falls, N. Y. Later he was engaged in the coal and lumber business in that place. He was one of the most prominent citizens of the town of Marlborough. In his early years he took an active part in politics and was one of the seven original Republicans of the town of Marlborough who voted for Fremont for president in 1856. He attended, as a delegate, Republican county and state conventions. He retired from business on account of age and for the past six years, up to the time of his death, lived with his son, Arthur Church, of this city. Another son, Wilmer Church, lives in Poughkeepsie. Two daughters also survive the deceased, Fannie, wife of Thomas D. Abrams, and Augusta, wife of Assistant District Attorney J. DePuy Hasbrouck. Two granddaughters also survive, Kathryn Turk and Helen McCoy, daughters of the deceased son, Walter, of Parker, Pa.

Fatal Fire.

SUGAR ALLOWANCE GREATLY REDUCED

The quantity of sugar that the retailer may sell to the consumer is changed to 2 pounds in the city and 3 pounds outside. Formerly it was 2 pounds to city customers and 10 pounds to customers outside the city.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 12.—The cheerful news from France this morning and the easier tone which developed in the money market yesterday caused a strong tone in the stock market at the opening today and during the first fifteen minutes there were general advances from around one point to over two points. Marine Preferred was in persistent demand, advancing one point to 103½ and the steel shares were vigorously bought, U. S. Steel making a gain of ½ to 98½, and Baldwin rose ½ to 87½. The tobacco stocks were the strongest features, American Sumatra advancing 2½ to 145½; United Cigar Stores 1½ to 97½; and Tobacco Products 1½ to 64. The rails were also in demand with Reading advancing ½ to 88½ and United Pacific advanced to 121½, a gain of two points. Mexican Petroleum gained ¼ to 95, and Distillers was actively traded in, advancing one point to 58½. Liberty 3½'s sold at 99.62. The 4's were traded in at 94.56 and the 4½'s at 96.84.

There was brisk buying in many stocks all through the early forenoon with many of the important issues making additional gains. The steel shares were in good demand, Steel Common advancing 1 point to 99. The tobacco group was the strongest on the floor, American Sumatra and United Cigar Stores being traded in on a large scale.

Business continued active all through the afternoon with irregular price movements. Steel Common rose to 99½, followed by a reaction to 99. While Reading was exceptionally active and strong, moving up to 89½, a gain of 2 points for the day. Tobacco stocks continued in demand.

The stock market closed steady today; government bonds unchanged steady; railroad and other bonds steady.

Subs Kill Fishermen.

London, June 12.—When fishermen protested against the German submarine order "to get off the sea," U-boats bombed and sunk 17 Irish fishing boats off Killeel on May 31, the Mail stated today.

NICK ROMANOFF IN MORE TROUBLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 12.—The forthcoming indications of the trial of the ex-tsar of Russia by a Bolshevik tribunal, promises big sensations, said a Petrograd despatch to the Daily Express. The Moscow Soviet is busy collecting telegrams which the ex-tsar sent to European monarchs and to President Poincaré of France and it reported that the erstwhile autocrat will be charged with entering into a verbal alliance with the Kaiser at a meeting at Potsdam palace against France and England. It is stated that the former ex-tsar at Riga and that the Germans are planning to restore him to power. The Russia Bourgeois, it is reported, are "awaiting the coming of the Romanoff dynasty into power again like a second Messiah."

NON-COMBATANT HEROES.

American Stretcher Bearers and Y. M. C. A. Men Show Real Courage.

Paris, June 12.—A number of American non-combatants, mostly stretcher bearers, have been wounded or sustained cases of shell shock in the fighting around Chateau Thierry, on the Marne front.

The Rev. John Clifford, aged 55, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Tucson, Ariz., attached to the Marines as a Y. M. C. A. worker, rescued a colonel of Marines, who was wounded north of Chateau Thierry.

He crawled on his stomach, through a wheat field, through heavy fire, pushing a stretcher just ahead of him. A shell burst near him, rendering him unconscious.

Arthur Phillips, formerly an editor on the Boston Transcript, a stretcher man at Chateau Thierry, received a shrapnel wound in the arm.

American Nerves Shaken?

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, June 12.—Advices received today quoted Austrian newspapers as saying that the presence of German U-boats in American waters had "not only caused New York to be darkened, but it closed the harbor and blocked shipping on the Atlantic coast, cutting great arteries of American trade." One comment ran: "It played the devil with American nerves."

ENGLISH ARE SHOWING MUCH INTEREST IN GREAT AMERICAN GAME OF BASEBALL

Whenever the American soldier halts on his way through England to the fighting front in France, it means a game of baseball. Under these conditions the English are naturally showing more interest in the American game than heretofore, and an Anglo-American Baseball league has been formed in which may be mentioned some real diamond stars.

The photo shows Army Headquarters Baseball Team of London, a unit of the Anglo-American league.

SPEAKER'S GREAT FEAT.

One 1918 performance that seems to be a record breaker is the making of two unassisted double plays in one season by an outfielder, said outfielder being the world's greatest—Tristram E. Speaker.

To make two unassisted double plays in one game is going some, too.

Dick Hobitzel turned this trick when he was with Cincinnati in a game with Philadelphia.

Pop Anson did the same thing for Chicago against Brooklyn in 1891.

PITCHER RED FABER HAS PASSED PHYSICAL TEST

Mr. Hattie Vanderlyn has been visiting friends in Kingston and her son, Daniel F. Vanderlyn and family, at Walkkill this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown have received word of the safe arrival of their son, Austin Brown, overseas.

Mrs. William Ware and son, "Billy," have arrived for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Freer, on Market street.

Druggist Patterson and wife and Miss Decker spent Sunday with George Patterson and family at Beacon, N. Y.

At the M. E. Church Sunday evening, under the direction of the Foreign Missionary Society, Mrs. E. R. Graham of New York will address the congregation. The subject will be "Missions." Mrs. Graham is considered one of the best speakers on the subject in the state, and Ellenville people are fortunate to have the privilege of hearing the gifted speaker. A forceful pantomime will be given and special music. The ladies of the Missionary Society, also the members of the Standard Bearers, with their president, Miss Wyman, are to attend in a body, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Mrs. Frank J. Potter entertained a company of young lady friends at her home on Park street Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Clara Decker, whose engagement to Harold Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson, of Beacon, has been announced. Miss Decker is the daughter of William Decker, and for several years resided in Ellenville, where she is well and favorably known with a host of friends, who are greatly interested in the happy event that is soon to be consummated. Miss Decker spent the past winter in Kingston. She has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. J. Bailey, on Center street the past week.

TENER TURNS EBBETS DOWN

National League Head Fails to Find Anything Against Stengel and Cuthshaw of Pirates.

True to his threat of some time ago, President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club took Charley Stengel and George Cuthshaw before President Tener of the National League.

However, from what can be learned, Mr. Tener has informed the Superbas' boss that there is nothing to be done; that neither of the players mentioned has said or done anything that could, by the wildest stretch of imagination, be construed into being an attack on the honor or integrity of Mr. Ebbets.

This action was the result of the story written from Jacksonville recently, in which the new Pirates took exception to certain statements alleged to have been made by Ebbets. Both Stengel and Cuthshaw denied they had been trouble-makers while with Brooklyn, and in doing so they entered vigorous denials to statements alleged to have emanated from their whilom employer.

Both "Casey" and George dared Ebbets to make good on certain things; and this, it is believed, caused the Brooklyn owner to approach Mr. Tener. However, as stated, the league executive has declined to act, stating, according to the best information obtainable, that there is nothing for him to "act upon."

Let College Hurler Go.

John Murray, pitcher for Georgetown university last year, has been unconditionally released by the Boston Nationals.

BASEBALL STORIES

Ray Schalk remains without a peer among the catchers.

Lee Magee continues to slaughter the ball for Cincinnati.

An umpire who thinks he can fight with his fists never will succeed.

Joe Wood, playing left field for the Cleveland Indians, is hitting like a pilledriver.

Through a typographical error an exchange referred to the Pittsburgh team as the Irates.

Miller Huggins is getting six cylinder power out of a two-cylinder pitching staff.

Robert Byrne, former Pirate, is now with the St. Paul club of the American association.

Cecil Sommer, pitcher, has been released by the Minneapolis American association club.

Roger Hornsby of the Cards, according to Fielder Jones, is weak on a low curve outside the plate.

Ferdie Schupp has been taking treatments from Bonestetter Reese at Youngstown, O., for a sore arm.

Eddie Cicotte will have to hurry back to form if the Sox expect to live up to their reputation as hell cows.

Fielder Jones is satisfied with Bert Galla's pitching, and says that Bert ought to be a big winner this season.

John Benowitz, catcher, has been purchased from the Columbus A. A. team by the St. Joseph Western league club.

Ted Waring, former catcher and manager of the Quincy and Hannibal teams in the Three-I league, is now in France.

Dana Fillingim, obtained from Indianapolis by the Braves, once had short trials with the Mackmen and the Indians.

Burleigh Grimes is pitching high-class ball for the Dodgers. He is the only man of last winter's trade left to the Brooklyn club.

Bert Daniels, once a popular member of the Yankees, is sure to make a hit as manager of the St. Joseph team of the Western league.

Since Al Marnaux declared he was not a draft dodger, Col. Ebbets has decided that he shall be a Dodger no longer. He has been formally suspended.

The Boston Red Sox gave the impression for a time that the American league race might be a runaway, but that idea has been dispelled in short order.

The Brooklyn National league club will help Arthur Irwin, manager of the Rochester International league club, build up a team by shipping its cast-off players to him.

The new International league clubs are carrying many young players of unknown ability. It's a good scheme to dig up as many as possible, inasmuch as the big league will need plenty of material next year.

Joe Jackson has quit the champion White Sox to build ships at Wilmington, Del. Rowland has shifted Lethold to center field and put Eddie Murphy in right. Felsch will likely cover left the remainder of the season.

When the boys strike that minor chord then you know what blend means

Great stuff, isn't it, when the harmony hounds get together, and tear off a few yards from those good old-time songs.

Maybe their voices would make a regular music shark howl with pain. But when they strike those rich minor chords—boy, they're there with the wallop.

No music just like a quartet, you say, when the voices blend just right.

Get that word "blend?" That's the secret of the whole thing.

Not Jim's tenor, nor Bill's sub-bass, that starts down in his toes, but the way they fit together tells the tale.

There's a lot in that word "blend."

It's the secret of a lot of good things—cigarettes, for instance. That blend idea has made Mecca the favorite cigarette with over a million smokers. There are twelve mighty choice tobaccos used in Mecca cigarettes—five kinds of Turkish and seven kinds of American—but you don't taste the flavor of any one of them separately when you take a deep drag. The only flavor you get is the good old Mecca flavor.

No one tobacco has everything you want in a cigarette.

Each of the twelve tobaccos in Mecca cigarettes is picked for a special purpose. One for fragrance, another for smoothness, still another for body—to let you know you're really smoking—and so on down the line.

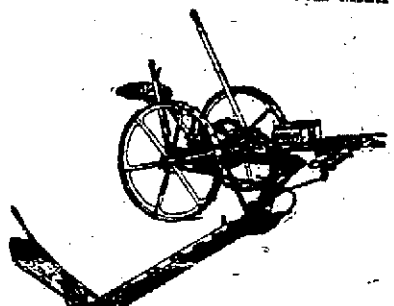

Here's how the still-blending process works. The different tobaccos are not just mixed, but are placed together in the blending still. Then moist heat is passed through until all the different flavors are drawn into one—the flavor that has made Mecca the favorite cigarette with over a million smokers.

To the Women of America.

An authoritative statement from official Washington again impresses upon the women of America the fact that "they have never been called upon before to bear so great a burden as the coming months will impose upon their courage and their constancy." The message reads in part: "The women of America must see to it that the nation's producing power is not enfeebled by the draft made upon it to strengthen the fighting power. They must produce food by working gardens, by raising chickens, by doing farm service where they can or by helping and encouraging those who do it. They must aid in the kitchen conserving food by wise economical canning, drying, preserving, pickling and preparing food in accordance with the food administration's program. They must purchase where they see the food administration's emblem, watch their local dealers, buy local produce in preference to shipped goods and resist the temptation to hoard. "The food that we save for the allies is not a saving of money. It is a saving of life. It is worth more than its weight in gold."

PLANS FOR SCOUT
SUMMER CAMP

Shortly after the close of school, the Boy Scouts of Kingston and vicinity will go into camp for their third season, and so far as is possible will remain at the camp during July and August. This will delight the heart of every Boy Scout who reads it, and should be of interest to the community because of its wholesome effect upon the lives of so many of our boys.

The camp, to be known as "Camp Wamung," will be located on the Esopus Creek at the point where the Sawkill Creek enters that stream. The site, which is some two miles from Lake Katrine station, or a short boat or motor trip from Kingston, affords a sand beach for swimming; a large field for sports, a birch grove along the water front for tents, a fine supply of tested drinking water, and unlimited possibilities for nature study along scout lines. Fresh food supplies will be easily procured from the neighboring farms. A prevailing wind keeps the camp cool and free from the presence of mosquitoes and flies.

The camp will open on July 6th, and will continue until September 1st. Only registered scouts in good standing will be admitted to the camp. The cost will be $4 a week. But scouts and their parents and friends should realize and appreciate the fact that this amount paid in advance by no means covers the running expenses of the camp. This is made possible through the generosity of a number of Kingston citizens.

This camp which will be conducted by the Kingston Council of the Boy Scouts of America, has as its camp committee, Arthur G. Carr, chairman; Edgar N. Palen, and Fred M. Dressel. The Wamung Camp staff will be composed of camp director, Scout Executive H. E. Soles, quartermaster, First Class Scout Vernon Beeher, Camp Physician Dr. Henry Van Hov-erberg; director of swimming and athletics, Scoutmaster Edgar N. Palen; military instructor, Sergeant George R. Whitaker.

The following announcement is made by the scout authorities relative to the camps for the summer, and should be carefully noted.

"Regardless of the great demands for our active participation in our war work activities, it is our obligation as leaders of the Boy Scouts of America to give every boy possible the benefit of camp experience and education during the coming summer. We are convinced that this will not only mean better scouting but more efficient boyhood and better results in character building and citizenship training."

Information relative to Camp Wamung can be had from the scout headquarters on Broadway, 1680, telephone call, and from time to time further details relative to the camp will appear in the columns of The Freeman.

Why "Behemoth" Survives.

The books of the New Testament were originally in Greek; those of the Old Testament, of course, in Hebrew. When the first "authorized version" of the Bible was framed, early in the seventeenth century, the scholars who undertook the work of translation were puzzled to identify some of the scriptural beasts. The crocodile was unknown in Europe at that period, and not having even heard of the hippopotamus, they let the Hebrew word "behemoth" stand.

Bats Once Used for Food.

That bats were food for primitive men is indicated by Miss Grinnell in her work on bats of California: "The bat had become master of the air long before man walked upright. The rocky refuge revealed to the cave man the little upside-down bat clinging to the roof of its cavern. One bat takes its food off the ground, since it brings to its roost wingless Jerusalem crickets, either attracted by the noise the insect makes in crawling or the air currents made by such movements."

INDEPENDENCE DAY
TO BE BEST EVER

Allied and Other Friendly Foreigners Will Unite With Us in the Greatest Display of Patriotism Yet Seen Here—Mayor Outlines Suggestions to Council.

Kingston is to have a rousing, old-fashioned, boom-boom Fourth of July celebration.

Every association, that can produce a delegation of any size is expected—is invited—to join in the parade. The common council so officially declared at the meeting called for that purpose last night.

Everybody of allied and friendly neutral alien natives of foreign countries who are not enemies of the United States and are neutral in this war is invited to turn out en masse. If there are companies or associations, societies, among our foreign-born citizens who have uniforms they are expected to wear those uniforms. A large and showy part of this Fourth of July parade is expected to be in a liberal response of the Italian and Polish societies.

Every society is expected to carry the United States flag, though the show of flags carried by societies of our citizens representing our allies are as a matter of course welcomed to float alongside of Old Glory.

The Red Cross members and nurses and the nurses from the hospital and sanitariums are earnestly invited to turn out.

It is expected that the parents and relatives, members of the families, who have boys at the front will join in the parade carrying service flags.

Every G. A. R. and Spanish War Veteran who can get out, it is hoped, will show up. Conveyances will be provided for the old vets.

The exercises of the day will take place in city hall park, where seats will be provided to the limit of the park.

The speakers and the detailed program will be announced as soon as the committees appointed at the council meeting last night are able to report.

Deputy City Clerk Turner was appointed secretary of the committee and information that may be desired by anybody and especially by members of societies that are willing to parade may be obtained from him at the city clerk's office.

The parade will start from Academy Park at 9 o'clock in the morning, march on Broadway to Delaware avenue and then counter-march to the city hall, where the exercises are expected to occupy not more than an hour and a quarter.

It is the sentiment of the council that there shall be plenty of good music, a large display of flags and banners and a large column of floats.

Business houses, associations and others who desire to send floats are invited to do so. The only restriction as to floats is that there is to be no advertising of merchandise. The names of firms and individuals may appear—nature of the business.

The common council agreed that nothing shall be left undone to make this the biggest Fourth of July celebration in the history of the city.

All military organizations, all individual members of the United States and naval forces of the United States, who may be in the city, are invited to join the parade; which is expected to include the fire department.

The Committees.

Decorations—Alderman Kullman, chairman; Mann, Schlip and Connolly.

Parade—Mayor Palmer Canfield, chairman; President Watts, and Aldermen Roos and Weston.

Music—Alderman Preston, chairman; and Kirchner, Kelly and Purvis.

Program—President Watts, chairman; and Aldermen Hull, Powell, Higgins and Roos.

Marching—Alderman Schick, chairman; Connolly and Purvis.

Invitation—Mayor Canfield, chairman; President Watts and Alderman Schick.

Seating at City Hall Park—Alderman Kullman, chairman; Mann, Schlip and Connolly.

The recommendations of the mayor embodied in the following communication handed in at the common council session last night were adopted, leaving the details and such matters as the committees may decide on, to the respective committees.

It covers practically the whole of the program for the day:

The Mayor's Communication.
June 6, 1918.
Hon. Samuel M. Watts,
Kingston N. Y.

My Dear Alderman-at-Large:
I will be in attendance at the Mayor's Conference on Tuesday evening next, and will not be able to attend the meeting to make arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration. I, therefore, take the liberty to make the following few suggestions in reference thereto.

1. That the parade starts at about 9 o'clock a. m. upon the fire bells tapping 1776 and then 1918.

2. That at 8:55 o'clock all church bells be rung for five minutes.

3. That it start at the Academy Park and proceed to Delaware avenue and counter-march to the city hall park.

4. That the exercises at the city hall park start at 10 o'clock, and include prayer, one general address, the presentation and unfurling of a city service flag by the Rotary Club, and acceptance by the city, and a couple of patriotic songs and music.

5. That all organizations in the city be invited to participate in the parade and meeting including the Red Cross organization, the hundreds of school girls and boys and the hundreds of Boy Scouts who are expected to be in the city on that day.

6. That special features be provided for the parade in the nature of about one dozen patriotic floats to be furnished by local concerns and representing Revolutionary events and adding a little of the spirit of those days to it, and also special small and inexpensive banners showing what Kingston and Ulster county have done in the way of furnishing men and money, and also banner-boxes containing war-wools and appealing words and phrases.

7. That special consideration be given the members of the G. A. R., and specially decorated automobiles be provided by citizens for them.

8. That the Ulster County Home Defense Committee and the women's branch thereof, be invited to participate and lend their efforts to make the celebration a success.

9. That those of Italian birth be requested to organize a division and to carry the Italian colors with our own flag. Likewise others of foreign birth from other countries in sympathy with the position of our country in the war.

10. That all sailors, soldiers and Marines who may be in the city on the day be given the place of honor.

11. That the parents of boys in the service be invited to participate and to carry a small service flag, and that they also be given a place of honor.

12. That it be the biggest and best patriotic celebration ever held in the city.

To carry out this program it will be necessary to appoint a committee on music who will have to act at once to secure our local band and the local drum corps; to appoint a committee on decorations to have the city hall and the platform and our soldier and sailor's monument properly decorated; to appoint some one to procure the speaker; to appoint some one to procure the high school auditorium for the meeting in case of rainy weather; to appoint a committee on invitations; to appoint a committee on program for the meeting, and to appoint a committee of arrangements for the parade.

There may be other things and features which will occur to you and the rest of the committee, and I make these suggestions simply for your consideration.

I will appreciate it if you will present this communication to the committee.

Yours respectfully,

PALMER CANFIELD, JR.

Mayor

CITY'S WATER OF GILT EDGE QUALITY

State Health Department Engineer

Made Inspection May 15 And Found Water Clear, Colorless, Odorless and Free From Contamination.

Kingston's water supply is of gilt edge quality as has been repeatedly shown in the past. On May 15, Assistant Engineer J. W. Jones of the state health department at Albany, made an inspection of the water shed and filtration plant, and a copy of his report has recently been received by the local water board.

On the day of inspection Engineer Jones found that the city was being supplied with a water clear, colorless, odorless and free from active contamination. The result of the water analyses in brief showed the absence of the B. coli type of bacteria. A sample of the raw water before being filtered showed 5,400 bacteria per cubic centimeter and after it had been treated that amount had been reduced to 1. Another sample showed 2,400 bacteria which was reduced to 15 after passing through the filter plant.

This was only a sample of the daily reports received from the chemist at the laboratory, and showed conclusively that Kingston's water after it passed through the filter plant was absolutely safe.

There is not another city in New York state that supplies its residents with a higher, safer or better grade of water than Kingston. The daily reports taken at the laboratory at the filter plant shows the absolute absence of B. coli after the water had been passed through the filter plant and is delivered to the water mains leading to the city.

Methods of Canning Kitchen.
In order that those who are interested in the Kingston Canning Kitchen may know how the fruits and vegetables are to be canned, those in charge wish to state that what is known as the "Cold Pack Method" will be used. The Cold Pack Method means:

1. That fresh vegetables and fruits in good condition are selected.

2. That every jar is tested—no cracks or uneven edges at the top—loose wires are tightened.

3. That every rubber is tested to see that it fits the jar and is good.

4. That every jar is washed carefully and sterilized thoroughly.

5. That the vegetables or fruits are prepared according to kind and washed thoroughly.

6. That the cleaned products are blanched which means boiled in boiling water or live steam depending on kind.

7. That the product is dipped quickly into cold water and right out again.

8. That the hot jars are packed and the salt added.

9. That the rubbers are dipped in boiling water and adjusted on the jars.

10. That the jars are filled with boiling water, syrup, or vegetable juice to within 1/4 of an inch of the top.

11. That the jars are partially sealed.

12. That the products are boiled the required time.

13. That the jars are removed from the boiler, sealed, and placed to cool as quickly as possible.

14. That the jars are labeled and stored in a cool, dry place.

PRINTZESS WASH SKIRT
MODEL No. 203

PATCH pockets of a clever design trim this attractive white tub skirt of an excellent quality of Gabardine.

The belt closes at the side, a youthful effect being given by the fullness which is gathered in all around at the waistline.

And the tub cannot harm this attractive garment because of thorough pre-shrinking.

The delightful lines and appearance, preserved by this efficient pre-shrinking process, are tailored into these garments in the first place with utmost skill and care.

Comfortable and chic, this Printzess wash skirt will be your ally for summer happiness the very moment you don it.

POULTRY RAISING IS A DUTY

Farmers and People in Cities Should Keep Enough Hens to Supply Table With Eggs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If poultry is to play the part that it should play in feeding the nation and winning the war, not only will the deficiency created during the past year have to be made good, but there will have to be added something to the average as it stood before the 1917 depletion began. The duty and the opportunity falls upon general farmers and upon families in cities and towns who have enough back-yard space—and that means much less space than may be ordinarily considered necessary—to keep enough hens to supply their own tables with eggs.

Upset Her Balance.

Like a rose petal on a zephyr she blew into the hostess's.

"I'm looking for something nice for a young man," she said shyly to the gallant behind the counter.

"Why don't you look in the mirror?" asked the hostess, and she was so flustered that he managed to get an order for four dozen raincoats that she didn't want, before she knew what she was doing.

Many Formations of Sponges.

Sponges are animals with power to eat and digest. They begin their life as tiny cell-like creatures and have a short, free life in the sea, after which they fasten themselves to a rock and begin to develop. They grow into all directions like fingers, and are called mermaid's gloves. There are fanlike sponges, trellis sponges and cuplike sponges. There are sponges that form a carpet over the rocks, and sponges called by the fishermen "sea nests," because they look like birds' nests.

Mule Is Doing His Bit.

The Missouri mule is doing his bit, and doing it well, in the present world conflict, just as he did it in the Civil war. In many sections at the front and along the lines of communication are places where mules are almost indispensable and where horses and motorcars are virtually useless. Pershing's engineers have testified to the worth of the mules in the requisitions they have made to Washington for the animals.

A strawberry supper will be held in the chapel of the Reformed Church on Friday evening, June 14.

Painless Dentistry

The difference between painless and painful dentistry depends upon the carefulness and skillfulness of the operator. With good instruments, fresh medicines, local anaesthetics and nitrous oxide gas a careful and skillful dentist can perform all operations painlessly, even to the extraction of teeth.

Painless methods, earnest endeavor and reasonable prices have in thirty years made the Cady Dental Corporation the largest dental organization in New York state.

The price of the supper is 25 cents, 10 cents extra being charged for ice cream. Be sure and come and bring your friends and enjoy a good supper and spend a social hour.

There were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Schoonmaker on Sunday.

Mr. Walter Devlin visited town on Tuesday.

Children's Day services will be held in the Reformed Church on Sunday evening, June 16, at half past seven. Everyone is cordially invited and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

Mrs. Kathryn Joseph's daughter is spending some time at her home.

Mrs. Silas Krom and Miss Ruth Barnhart joined the Ladies' Aid Society at the past meeting, which was held at Mrs. Thomas Snyder's.

Raymond Terwilliger, who is on the ship Mt. Vernon, has returned to his work after a week's furlough home.

Illnesses Goetheus is spending some time at the home of his son.

Mission services were held at the Catholic Church on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of the past week. The services were conducted by Father McGinnis of New York city. Father McGinnis was a very pleasing speaker and knew how to handle the topics upon which he discoursed. The subject of his address on Saturday evening was "The Infinite Mercy of God." The services were well attended.

Miss Fanny Elmendorf of Briar Cliff Manor, is spending some time at her home.

Mrs. Raymond Bug and son, Halston, of Poughkeepsie, have been visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. David Sherman.

Miss Edna Freer called on Mrs. Floyd M. Kipp on Monday.

Harry Quick, who is somewhere in France, is convalescing from typhoid fever.

Mrs. Henry Williams has recently received several letters from her son, Frank, who is over in France.

Committee meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Millard Rogers the past Friday afternoon to make arrangements regarding the strawberry festival.

Strive to Keep Soul Youthful.

My body's old, but that's not my fault. I'm not to blame for an old body, but I would be to blame for an old soul. An old soul is a shameful thing.—Margaret Deland.

HERE'S THE STORY AND IT'S A TRUE ONE, TOO.

These shoes were made by the world's largest shoe manufacturers and are absolutely honest from toe to heel. Examine the soles, see the thickness of the splendid oak insoles, look inside at the insoles, examine the leather the tops are made of, and GET THIS, we will risk our reputation on this statement that this shoe will outwear the best seven dollar dress shoe you can buy, but of course it is not as light and fine.

This is the infantry of the shoe game.

Avoid Having Your Telephone Moved Unless it is Absolutely Necessary

DURING AN AVERAGE MONTH we move approximately 13,000 telephones from one point to another within a building or from one point to another within a room.

ONETHOUSAND, ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREEMEN of our Plant Department, formerly engaged in the moving and repairing of telephones and work incidental thereto, are now in the military service of our country and others are constantly being called to the colors.

UNDER THESE CONDITIONS the employees who must remain at their posts are rendering a patriotic service of great importance in handling the increasing demands for war-time service.

IT IS IMPERATIVE, therefore, during the period of the war, that all unnecessary moving of telephones from one point to another within buildings or within offices be avoided.

BEFORE YOU REQUEST that your telephone be moved, will you please consider whether it cannot be left in its present location without material inconvenience to you.

YOU CAN HELP to conserve labor for the all-important work of furnishing telephone service for the Government and essential war industries, if you will.

Avoid having your telephone moved unless it is ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY

MARRIED IN CAMP SURPRISE AT HOME

Two Kingston Boys in Military Wedding, Kissing Their Brides Good-bye and at Once Entering for the Boat That Takes Them to France.

A double military wedding occurred at Camp Dix this week in which two of Kingston's boys figured as the stars of the occasion, though admittedly the lesser stars of that bridal constellation.

They kissed their brides, bade them fond adieus and joined the ranks at once, to be entrained for the boats leaving forthwith for France. The two brides had the unusual honor of giving their husbands loving salutes after the boys had actually started for the overseas journey.

The two first of Kingston's soldiers in this war to be honored with a military wedding with all the pomp that a regiment could give them were George Roche of 100 Tubby street and Albert E. Deyo of 15 Downs street. Both are attached to the 39th Heavy Artillery. A star on the service flag that hangs over the entrance to The Freeman building down town is patriotic evidence that George Roche left a good job to respond to the call of the country.

The bride of George Roche was Miss Elida, the daughter of James Ticker of East Kingston, and Deyo's bride was Miss May Pearl Henrichy. Speaking of the wedding Mrs. George Roche, who is now home with her parents, said that the regiment drew up in line and marched to the regimental headquarters, where the chaplain of the regiment married both couples. She remarked with a proud tone of voice: "And we were married under the American flag." She could not tell the name of the chaplain. She said she hadn't received her papers yet.

A telephone call at the residence of Mrs. S. R. Deyo, 155 Downs street, brought the reply that the family is away and the person answering the phone knew nothing about it.

A. M. Deyo, of the firm of S. R. Deyo, elder manufacturer, when asked about it over the phone responded: "Married? Did you say? Married Albert? Well, I hadn't heard of it. That's good. I wish I'd been there, don't you?" Then he laughed heartily. It seemed to have been a great surprise to him. Albert's mother, Mrs. Alice Deyo is the widow of S. R. Deyo, the elder manufacturer, and is still a large owner in the business.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Miss Anna Powell of Schenectady is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Clifford Champ, on Green street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Enright are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son, at their home, 128 Newkirk avenue.

Miss Margaret McGowan of 50 Elmwood street is spending vacation with her sister, Mrs. G. W. Barnes of Brooklyn.

Myron Weil and Lawrence Whitehead of New York city, who have been the guest of Mr. Weil's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Weil, on Abruzzo street, have returned to New York.

U-Boats Destroyed?

Norfolk, Va., June 12.—In spite of repeated official denials that any U-boats have been destroyed in American water, a report persisted in naval circles here today that three German submarines have been destroyed since Sunday.

An attempt is being made to identify a mass of wreckage found floating at sea.

Auxiliary at Mrs. Poley's.

This month the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will be the last for the season. Instead of meeting at the Y. M. C. A. parlors as usual, the members of the auxiliary will meet at Mrs. Frank R. Poley's, No. 49 West Chestnut street, on Friday afternoon of this week at 3 o'clock.

136 GRADUATES AT WEST POINT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
West Point, N. Y., June 12.—One hundred and thirty-six new officers were added to the United States army here today when Secretary of War Baker handed diplomas to the cadets of the graduation class of the United States Military Academy. The cadets were prematurely graduated a year ahead of scheduled time.

Because of rain a review of the cadets, planned in honor of Secretary Baker, was called off. The graduation exercises were held in the gymnasium.

In an address to the cadets Baker related the policy of the government in its prosecution of the war, stating no new note.

One half of the 1921 class departed today on a furlough which will last until July 22. On Friday 350 new cadets will report for admission to the academy.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A meeting of the first aid class for the motor corps will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Tickets for the Four Minute Men song festival at the high school are on sale at Mahen & Walker's drug store, opposite the cigar factory, on Broadway.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Dutch Church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Snyder, 215 Washington avenue, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Members of Kingston Chapter, No. 155, O. E. S., will hold their strawberry festival this evening at the residence of Mrs. Theresa Weber, Broadway, opposite Foxhall avenue. Ice cream, cake and strawberries will be for sale. The public is invited.

The W. H. M. S. of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold their regular monthly meeting Thursday, June 13, at the home of Mrs. Emmett Silkworth, 350 Hasbrouck. An all-day social will be held. The ladies of the Foreign Auxiliary are invited, also any lady interested in missionary work.

Right Worshipful Past D. D. Grace V. Merritt, R. W. Past A. L. S. D. S. D. of the Grand Lodge, No. 155, O. E. S., will hold their strawberry festival this evening at the residence of Mrs. Theresa Weber, Broadway, opposite Foxhall avenue. Ice cream, cake and strawberries will be for sale. The public is invited.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

In New York on Monday, June 10th, occurred the deaths of two sisters, Adella Livingston Kearney, aged 72 years, and Caroline Gertrude Kearney, aged 74 years. Deceased were daughters of the late John Walts and Eliza Hammeken Kearney, who years ago were residents of Saugerties, owning and occupying the property on Barclay Heights, now owned by Mrs. E. A. Hurry. The bodies were brought to Saugerties this afternoon on the 2:59 train and a double funeral held immediately after in Trinity P. E. Church, Rev. Thomas Cole, officiating. Interment Trinity cemetery.

Nelson Bane, a native of Germantown, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Snyder, on Thompson street, Catskill, Monday, aged 91 years. Besides Mrs. Snyder he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Oscar Wolven, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Egbert Snyder, of Saugerties. One son also survives, Charles Bane of Hudson. The funeral will be held from the Snyder home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock and the service will be conducted by Rev. P. N. Chase of Kingston, a former pastor of the Methodist Church in North Germantown. Burial will be in the North Germantown cemetery.

William Oscar Church, who was one of the most widely known men in this vicinity, died in Kingston on Wednesday, June 12. He was ninety-one years old. For a number of years he was master mechanic for the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, at High Falls, N. Y. Later he was engaged in the coal and lumber business in that place. He was one of the most prominent citizens of the town of Marlborough. In his early years he took an active part in politics and was one of the seven original Republicans of the town of Marlborough who voted for Fremont for president in 1856. He attended, as a delegate, Republican county and state conventions. He retired from business on account of age and for the past six years, up to the time of his death, lived with his son, Arthur Church, of this city. Another son, Wilfred Church, lives in Poughkeepsie. Two daughters also survive the deceased, Fannie, wife of Thomas D. Abrams, and Augusta, wife of Assistant District Attorney J. DePuy Harbrow. Two granddaughters also survive, Kathryn Turk and Helen McCoy, daughters of the deceased son, Walter, of Parker, Pa.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 12.—The cheerful news from France this morning and the easier tone which developed in the money market yesterday caused a strong tone in the stock market at the opening today and during the first fifteen minutes there were general advances from around one point to over two points. Marine preferred was in persistent demand, advancing one point to 103 1/2 and the steel shares were vigorously bought, U. S. Steel making a gain of 3/4 to 88 1/2 and Baldwin rose 3/4 to 87 1/2. The tobacco stocks were the strongest features, American Sunnata advancing 2 1/4 to 145 1/2; United Cigar Stores 1 1/2 to 97 1/2 and Tobacco Products 1 1/2 to 64. The rails were also in demand with Reading advancing 1/2 to 88 1/2 and United Pacific advanced to 121 1/2, a gain of two points. Mexican Petroleum gained 3/4 to 35, and Distillers was actively traded in, advancing one point to 55 1/2. Liberty 3 1/2's sold at 99.62. The 4 1/2's were traded in at 94.56 and the 4 1/2's at 96.84.

There was brisk buying in many stocks all through the early forenoon with many of the important issues making additional gains. The steel shares were in good demand, Steel Common advancing 1 point to 99. The tobacco group was the strongest on the floor, American Sunnata and United Cigar Stores being traded in on a large scale.

Business continued active all through the afternoon with irregular price movements. Steel Common rose to 99 1/2, followed by a reaction to 99 while Reading was exceptionally active and strong, moving up to 89 1/2, a gain of 2 points for the day. Tobacco stocks continued in demand.

The stock market closed steady today; government bonds unchanged; railroad and other bonds steady.

Navigation Notes.

Captain Charles Winchell of the ferry transport, who has been confined to his home for several days with illness, expects shortly to resume his duties on the ferry.

This afternoon Pilot Joel Rightmeyer piloted the Standard Oil Company tank Sarcoony No. 13 to New York where it will be overhauled. The tank came through the Barge canal. The crew dined at Fischer's Hotel at noon today before resuming the trip down the river.

Subs Kill Fishermen.

London, June 12.—When fishermen protested against the German submarine order "to get off the sea," U-boats bombed and sunk 17 Irish fishing boats off Killybeg on May 31. The Mail stated today.

NICK ROMANOFF IN MORE TROUBLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 12.—The forthcoming indications of the trial of the ex-tsar of Russia by a Bolshevik tribunal, promises big sensations, said a Petrograd despatch to the Daily Express. The Moscow Soviet is busy collecting telegrams which the ex-tsar sent to European monarchs and to President Poincare of France and it reported that the erstwhile autocrat will be charged with entering into a verbal alliance with the Kaiser at a meeting at Potsdam palace against France and England. It is stated that the former ex-tsar is at Riga and that the Germans are planning to restore him to power. The Russia Bourgeois, it is reported, are "awaiting the coming of the Romanoff dynasty into power again like a second Messiah."

NON-COMBATANT HEROES.

American Stretcher Bearers and Y. M. C. A. Men Show Real Courage.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, June 12.—A number of American non-combatants, mostly stretcher bearers, have been wounded or sustained cases of shell shock in the fighting around Chateau Thierry, on the Marne front.

Rev. John Clifford, aged 55, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Tucson, Ariz., attached to the Marines as a Y. M. C. A. worker, rescued a colonel of Marines, who was wounded north of Chateau Thierry.

He crawled on his stomach, through a wheat field, through heavy fire, pushing a stretcher just ahead of him. A shell burst near him, rendering him unconscious.

Arthur Phillips, formerly an editor on the Boston Transcript, a stretcher man at Chateau Thierry, received a shrapnel wound in this arm.

American Nerves Shaken?

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, June 12.—Advices received today quoted Austrian newspapers as saying that the presence of German U-boats in American waters had "not only caused New York to be darkened, but it closed the harbor and blocked shipping on the Atlantic coast, cutting great arteries of American trade." One comment ran: "It played the devil with American nerves."

Street Car Strike Off.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Schenectady, N. Y., June 12.—Operation of cars of the Schenectady railway Company was resumed this afternoon, with the settlement of the 12-day strike. The men accepting a temporary increase of six and a half cents an hour while the national war labor boards investigate their demands for nine cents an hour increase.

Draft Treaty Signed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, June 12.—The treaty under which Great Britain may draft Americans living in Great Britain, and the United States may draft British subjects here was signed in London June 3, the state department announced today. Before the treaty becomes operative it must be ratified by congress and the British parliament.

ENGLISH ARE SHOWING MUCH INTEREST IN GREAT AMERICAN GAME OF BASEBALL

Whenever the American soldier halts on his way through England to the fighting front in France, it means a game of baseball. Under these conditions the English are naturally showing more interest in the American game than heretofore, and an Anglo-American Baseball league has been formed in which may be mentioned some real diamond stars.

The photo shows Army Headquarters Baseball Team of London, a unit of the Anglo-American league.

SPEAKER'S GREAT FEAT.

One 1918 performance that seems to be a record breaker is the making of two unassisted double plays in one season by an outfielder, said outfielder being the world's greatest—Tristram E. Speaker.

To make two unassisted double plays in one game is going some, too.

Dick Hoblitzel turned this trick when he was with Cincinnati in a game with Philadelphia.

Pop Anson did the same thing for Chicago against Brooklyn in 1891.

PITCHER RED FABER HAS PASSED PHYSICAL TEST

Word has been received at the Chicago White Sox office that Red Faber, pitcher, has passed the physical test and is in the draft. Faber does not expect to be called until late in the season or after its close.

Miller Huggins is getting six-cylinder power out of a two-cylinder pitching staff.

Robert Byrne, former Pirate, is now with the St. Paul club of the American association.

Cecil Sommer, pitcher, has been released by the Minneapolis American association club.

Roger Hornsby of the Cards, according to Fielder Jones, is weak on a low curve outside the plate.

Ferdie Schupp has been taking treatments from Bonasetter Reese at Youngstown, O., for a sore arm.

Eddie Cicotte will have to hurry back to form if the Sox expect to live up to their reputation as bell cows.

Fielder Jones is satisfied with Bert Gallia's pitching, and says that Bert ought to be a big winner this season.

John Benowitz, catcher, has been purchased from the Columbus A. A. team by the St. Joseph Western league club.

Ted Waring, former catcher and manager of the Quincy and Hannibal teams in the Three-I league, is now in France.

Dana Fillingim, obtained from Indianapolis by the Braves, once had short trials with the Mackmen and the Indians.

Burleigh Grimes is pitching high class ball for the Dodgers. He is the only man of last winter's trade left to the Brooklyn club.

Bert Daniels, once a popular member of the Yankees, is sure to make a hit as manager of the St. Joseph team of the Western league.

Since Al Mamaux declared he was not a draft dodger, Col. Ebbs has decided that he shall be a Dodger no longer. He has been formally suspended.

The Boston Red Sox gave the impression for a time that the American league race might be a runaway, but that idea has been dispelled in short order.

The Brooklyn National league club will help Arthur Irwin, manager of the Rochester International league club, build up a team by shipping its cast-off players to him.

Both "Casey" and George dared Ebbs to make good on certain things; and this, it is believed, caused the Brooklyn owner to approach Mr. Tener. However, as stated, the league executive has declined to act, stating, according to the best information obtainable, that there is nothing for him to "act upon."

Joe Jackson, has quit the champion White Sox to build ships at Wilmington, Del. Rowland has shifted Leibold to center field and put Edie Murphy in right. Felsch will likely cover left the remainder of the season.

Let College Hurler Go.
John Murray, pitcher for Georgetown university last year, has been unconditionally released by the Boston Nationals.

SCHRABISCH IS NOT A GERMAN SPY

Released Today From County Jail Here—Was Arrested at Napanoch While Acting Suspiciously.

Prof. Max Schrabisch, formerly state archaeologist of the state of New Jersey, who was arrested Monday at Napanoch upon suspicion of being a German spy, was released at noon today from the county jail here, where he had been confined since Monday night. An appeal had been taken by his attorney, Frederick E. W. Darrow, from the judgment of the court of the town of Wawarsing, and it is understood that this appeal will be allowed by County Judge Jenkins. Schrabisch was arraigned at Ellenville before Justice of the Peace Daniel Fitzgerald of Ellenville, and pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy, under section 857-A of the code of civil procedure. This was a technical charge under which Schrabisch was held, pending an investigation.

After Schrabisch was arraigned at Ellenville on Monday he was brought to the Ulster county jail that same evening by Sheriff Smith. Officials of the district attorney's office here immediately started an investigation and got in touch with the United States department of justice. It has been ascertained that Schrabisch is what he represents himself to be. He is vouched for by John W. Griggs, former governor of New Jersey, and former attorney general of the United States, John H. Price, president of the New Jersey state civil service commission, W. H. Belcher, former mayor of Paterson, N. J., and other eminent persons.

Schrabisch was arrested because of the conflicting tales he told and because of his suspicious attitude. In accent and appearance he is very much a German. He came to Napanoch with two heavy dress suit cases, and went around from house to house inquiring for a boarding place. His actions were peculiar and he attracted much attention. Later he was arrested, and when arraigned at Ellenville his actions and attitude aroused suspicion and doubt. The people of Ellenville and also those of Napanoch acted entirely from patriotic motives, and take emphatic exception to the statement published which stated "that it seemed to be understood that a grotesque mistake had been made."

Upon two other occasions Schrabisch has been suspected of being a German spy. In the summer of 1917 he was reported to the United States department of justice as a suspect, and was examined by an agent of the department at Paterson, N. J. Later he was re-examined upon a similar suspicion.

Schrabisch is recognized as an expert in his chosen line. For the last two years or so he has been investigating Indian relics in the counties of Ulster, Orange and Rockland. He has completed a forty thousand word report for Dr. Clark of the New York state museum. His investigations were particularly in the Catskill and Shawangunk mountains. As told in the Freeman last fall, Schrabisch discovered an Indian rock house at the base of Overlook Mountain, town of Wawarsing.

A prominent Ellenville man said today: "We regret any injury to Prof. Schrabisch. However, we are Americans and it is our duty as such to investigate suspicious circumstances such as those in the case of Prof. Schrabisch. The peculiar actions of the professor and the conflicting stories told by him justified the attitude of the people of Napanoch, and of Ellenville."

Milk Stations Open Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the three milk stations to be operated in this city in connection with "Milk Week," will be open to the public. The one uptown will be in connection with the milk exhibit at 324 Wall street, opposite the Five and Ten Cent Store; the one in the middle section of the city will be at the city hall grounds and downtown there will be a third station at 40 Broadway. One may learn much at any of these milk stations about the food value of milk, and may also purchase milk, butter milk, etc. at the station which will be as well worth visiting as the exhibit on Wall street. With all the fads and fancies and strange-to-the-palate dishes now being put before the public as war food necessities, the plain, wholesome milk food appeal to the average home keeper is the most reasonable. Therefore it would be well to go to the nearest milk station and learn all there is to be found out along this line.

More Babies Die Than Soldiers.

It is safer to be a soldier in the trenches than a baby in a cradle, according to figures quoted by the Women's Auxiliary Committee, Minnesota Commission of Public Safety, Council of National Defense.

"While the death rate of men in the trenches is about 2 per cent annually, the death rate of babies under 1 year in Minnesota is 7 per cent," says a recent report from the committee.

PLANS FOR SCOUT
SUMMER CAMP

Shortly after the close of school, the Boy Scouts of Kingston and vicinity will go into camp for their third season, and so far as is possible will remain at the camp during July and August. This will delight the heart of every Boy Scout who reads it, and should be of interest to the community because of its wholesome effect upon the lives of so many of our boys.

The camp, to be known as "Camp Wampanoag," will be located on the Esopus Creek at the point where the Sawkill Creek enters, that stream, from Lake Katrine station, or a short boat or motor trip from Kingston, affords a sand beach for swimming; a large field for sports; a birch grove along the water front for tents, a fine supply of tested drinking water, and unlimited possibilities for nature study along scout lines. Fresh food supplies will be easily procured from the neighboring farms. A prevailing wind keeps the camp cool and free from the presence of mosquitoes and flies.

The camp will open on July 6th, and will continue until September 1st. Only registered scouts in good standing will be admitted to the camp. The cost will be $4 a week. But scouts and their parents and friends are urged to appreciate the fact that this amount paid in would by no means cover the running expenses of the camp. This is made possible through the generosity of a number of Kingston citizens.

This camp which will be conducted by the Kingston Council of the Boy Scouts of America, has as its camp committee, Arthur G. Carr, chairman; Edgar N. Palen, and Fred M. Dressel. The Wampanoag Camp staff will be composed of camp director, Scout Executive H. E. Soles, quartermaster, First Class Scout Vernon Bechler, Camp Physician Dr. Henry Van Hov-erberg; director of swimming and athletics, Scoutmaster Edgar N. Palen, military instructor, Sergeant George R. Whitaker.

The following announcement is made by the scout authorities relative to the camps for the summer, and should be carefully noted.

"Regardless of the great demands for our active participation in our war work activities, it is our obligation as leaders of the Boy Scouts of America to give every boy possible the benefit of camp experience and education during the coming summer. We are convinced that this will not only mean better scouting but more efficient boyhood and better results in character building and citizenship training."

Information relative to Camp Wampanoag can be had from the scout headquarters on Broadway, 1680, telephone call, and from time to time further details relative to the camp will appear in the columns of The Freeman.

Why "Behemoth" Survives.

The books of the New Testament were originally in Greek; those of the Old Testament, of course, in Hebrew. When the first "authorized version" of the Bible was framed, early in the seventeenth century, the scholars who undertook the work of translation were puzzled to identify some of the scriptural beasts. The crocodile was unknown in Europe at that period, and not having even heard of the hippopotamus, they left the Hebrew word "behemoth" stand.

Bats Once Used for Food.

That bats were food for primitive men is indicated by Miss Grinnell in her work on bats of California: "The bat had become master of the air long before man walked upright. The rocky refuge revealed to the cave man the little upside-down bat clinging to the roof of his cavern. One bat takes its food off the ground, since it brings to its roost wingless Jerusalem crickets, either attracted by the noise the insect makes in crawling or the air currents made by such movements."

INDEPENDENCE DAY
TO BE BEST EVER

Allied and Other Friendly Foreigners Will Unite With Us in the Greatest Display of Patriotism Yet Seen Here—Mayor Outlines Suggestions to Council.

Kingston is to have a rousing, old-fashioned, boom-boom Fourth of July celebration.

Every association that can produce a delegation of any size is expected—is invited—to join in the parade. The common council so officially declared at the meeting called for that purpose last night.

Everybody of allied and friendly neutral alien natives of foreign countries who are not enemies of the United States and are neutral in this war is invited to turn out en masse. If there are companies or associations, societies, among our foreign born citizens who have uniforms they are expected to wear those uniforms. A large and showy part of this Fourth of July parade is expected to be in a liberal response of the Italian and Polish societies.

Every society is expected to carry the United States flag, though the show of flags carried by societies of our citizens representing our allies are as a matter of course welcomed to float alongside of Old Glory.

The Red Cross members and nurses and the nurses from the city hospitals and sanitariums are earnestly invited to turn out.

It is expected that the parents and relatives, members of the families, who have boys at the front will join in the parade carrying service flags.

Every C. A. R. and Spanish War Veteran who can get out, it is hoped, will show up. Conveyances will be provided for the old vets.

The exercises of the day will take place in city hall park, where seats will be provided to the limit of the park.

The speakers and the detailed program will be announced as soon as the committee appointed at the council meeting last night are able to report.

Deputy City Clerk Turner was appointed secretary of the committee and information that may be desired by anybody and especially by members of societies that are willing to parade may be obtained from him at the city clerk's office.

The parade will start from Academy Park at 9 o'clock in the morning, march on Broadway to Delaware avenue and then countermarch to the city hall, where the exercises are expected to occupy not more than an hour and a quarter.

It is the sentiment of the council that there shall be plenty of good music, a large display of flags and banners and a large column of floats. Business houses, associations and others who desire to send floats are invited to do so. The only restriction as to floats is that there is to be no advertising of merchandise. The names of firms and individuals may appear—naturally would.

The common council agreed that nothing shall be left undone to make this the biggest Fourth of July celebration in the history of the city.

All military organizations, all individual members of the military and naval forces of the United States, who may be in the city, are invited to join the parade; which is expected to include the fire department.

The Committees.

Decorations—Alderman Kullman, chairman; Mann, Schlip and Connolly.

Parade—Mayor Palmer Canfield, chairman; President Watts, and Aldermen Roosa and Presron.

Music—Alderman Preston, chairman; and Kirchner, Kelly and Purvis.

Program—President Watts, chairman; and Aldermen Hull, Powell, Higgins and Roosa.

Marching—Alderman Schick, chairman; Connolly and Purvis.

Invitation—Mayor Canfield, chairman; President Watts and Alderman Schick.

Seating at City Hall Park—Alderman Kullman, chairman; Mann, Schlip and Connolly.

The recommendations of the mayor embodied in the following communication handed in at the common council session last night were adopted, leaving the details and such matters as the committees may decide on, to the respective committees.

It covers practically the whole of the program for the day:

The Mayor's Communication.

June 6, 1918.

Hon. Samuel M. Watts, Kingston, N. Y.

My Dear Alderman-at-Large:

I will be in attendance at the Mayor's Conference on Tuesday evening next, and will not be able to attend the meeting to make arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration. I, therefore, take the liberty to make the following few suggestions in reference thereto.

1. That the parade starts at about 9 o'clock a. m. upon the fire bells, tapping 1776 and then 1918.

2. That at 8:55 o'clock all church bells be rung for five minutes.

3. That it start at the Academy Park and proceed to Delaware avenue and counter march to the city hall park.

4. That the exercises at the city hall park start at 10 o'clock, and include prayer, one general address, the presentation and unfurling of the city service flag by the Rotary Club, and acceptance by the city, and a couple of patriotic songs and music.

5. That all organizations in the city be invited to participate in the parade and meeting including the Red Cross organization, the high school girls and boys and the hundreds of Boy Scouts who are expected to be in the city on that day.

6. That special features be provided for the parade in the nature of about one dozen patriotic floats to be furnished by local concerns and representing Revolutionary events, and adding a little of the spirit of 1776 to it, and also special small and inexpensive banners showing what Kingston and Ulster county have done in the way of furnishing men and money, and also banner-boxes containing war-slogans and appealing words and phrases.

7. That special consideration be given the members of the G. A. R., and specially decorated automobiles be provided by citizens for them.

8. That the Ulster County Home Defense Committee and the women's branch thereof, be invited to participate and lend their efforts to make the celebration a success.

9. That those of Italian birth be requested to organize a division and to carry the Italian colors with their own flag. Likewise others of foreign birth from other countries in sympathy with the position of our country in the war.

10. That all sailors, soldiers and Marines who may be in the city on the day be given the place of honor.

11. That the parents of boys in the service be invited to participate and to carry a small service flag, and that they also be given a place of honor.

12. That it be the biggest and best patriotic celebration ever held in the city.

To carry out this program it will be necessary to appoint a committee on music who will have to act at once to secure our local band and the local drum corps; to appoint a committee on decorations to have the city hall and the platform and our soldier and sailor's monument properly decorated; to appoint some one to procure the speaker; to appoint some one to procure the high school auditorium for the meeting in case of rainy weather; to appoint a committee on invitations; to appoint a committee on program for the meeting, and to appoint a committee of arrangements for the parade.

There may be other things and features which will occur to you and the rest of the committee, and I make these suggestions simply for your consideration.

I will appreciate it if you will present this communication to the committee.

Yours respectfully,

PALMER CANFIELD, JR., Mayor

State Health Department Engineer

Made Inspection May 15 And Found Water Clear, Colorless, Odorless and Free From Contamination.

Kingston's water supply is of gilt edge quality as has been repeatedly shown in the past. On May 15, Assistant Engineer J. W. Jones of the state health department at Albany, made an inspection of the water shed and filtration plant, and a copy of his report has recently been received by the local water board.

On the day of inspection Engineer Jones found that the city was being supplied with a water clear, colorless, odorless and free from active contamination. The result of the water analysis in brief showed the absence of the B. Coli type of bacteria. A sample of the raw water before being filtered showed 5,400 bacteria per cubic centimeter, and after it had been treated that amount had been reduced to 1. Another sample showed 2,400 bacteria which was reduced to 15 after passing through the filter plant. This was only a sample of the daily reports received from the chemist at the laboratory, and showed conclusively that Kingston's water after it passed through the filter plant was absolutely safe.

There is not another city in New York state that supplies its residents with a higher, safer or better grade of water than Kingston. The daily reports taken at the laboratory at the filter plant shows the absolute absence of B. Coli after the water has been passed through the filter plant and is delivered to the water mains leading to the city.

Methods of Canning Kitchen.

In order that those who are interested in the Kingston Canning Kitchen may know how the fruits and vegetables are to be canned, those in charge wish to state that what is known as the "Cold Pack Method" will be used. The Cold Pack Method means:

1. That fresh vegetables and fruits in good condition are selected.

2. That every jar is tested—no cracks or uneven edges at the top—loose wires are tightened.

3. That every rubber is tested to see that it fits the jar and is good.

4. That every jar is washed carefully and sterilized thoroughly.

5. That the vegetables or fruits are prepared according to kind and washed thoroughly.

6. That the cleaned products are blanched which means boiled in boiling water or live steam depending on kind.

7. That the product is dipped quickly into cold water and right out again.

8. That the hot jars are packed and the salt added.

9. That the rubbers are dipped in boiling water and adjusted on the jars.

10. That the jars are filled with pure and clean water, syrup, or vegetable juice to within 1/2 inch of the top.

11. That the jars are partially filled with water, syrup, or vegetable juice to within 1/2 inch of the top.

12. That the products are boiled in the required time.

13. That the jars are removed from the boiler, sealed, and placed to cool as quickly as possible.

14. That the jars are labeled and stored in a cool, dry place.

With Time to Spare.

It is the people with the most to do who can always spare time to help others. The girl who is absorbed in having a good time and looking out for Number One, feels aggrieved if to these weighty duties is added a trifling responsibility for others, while her busy overburdened neighbor with a score of claims upon her time and strength, can always find time to help somewhere. If you are one of the people who never have time to do a kindness, you may be sure it is because you have not enough to do.

Many Formations of Sponges.

Sponges are animals with power to eat and digest. They begin their life as tiny eel-like creatures and have a short, free life in the sea, after which they fasten themselves to a rock and begin to develop. They grow into all directions like fingers, and are called mermaid's gloves. There are fanlike sponges, treelike sponges, and cuplike sponges. There are sponges that form a carpet over the rocks, and sponges allied by the fishermen "sea nests," because they look like birds' nests.

POULTRY RAISING IS A DUTY.

Farmers and People in Cities Should Keep Enough Hens to Supply Table With Eggs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If poultry is to play the part that it should play in feeding the nation and winning the war, not only will the deficiency created during the past year have to be made good, but there will have to be added something to the average as it stood before the 1917 depletion began. The duty and the opportunity falls upon general farmers and upon families in cities and towns who have enough back-yard space—and that means much less space than may be ordinarily considered necessary—to keep enough hens to supply their own tables with eggs.

Upset Her Balance.

Like a rose petal on a zephyr she blew into the hostess's.

"I'm looking for something nice for a young man," she said shyly to the gallant behind the counter.

"Why don't you look in the mirror?" asked the hostess, and she was so flustered that he managed to get an order for four dozen raincoats that she didn't want, before she knew what she was doing.

Mule Is Doing His Bit.

The Missouri mule is doing his bit and doing it well, in the present world conflict. Just as he did it in the Civil war. In many sections at the front and along the lines of communication are places where mules are almost indispensable and where horses and motorcars are virtually useless. Pershing's engineers have testified to the worth of the mules in the requisitions they have made to Washington for the animals.
